Engage in the budget planning process

Members of the University Community:

I am writing to thank you for participating in the collaborative budget planning process. This important process will create a stronger and more vital institution. Based on the budget planning process timeline, campus leaders are asked to share short-term and long-term plans with campus communities by May 10 and with me on May 19. Following discussions with university leaders, I will share final budget plans with the university community at the beginning of June.

As we consider difficult, but necessary budget decisions, we must do so together. Please take time to engage in your campus budget plan discussion before your chancellor submits it to me on May 19.

Thank you for your commitment to our university.

Sincerely,

Mun Y. Choi, Ph.D.
President
