

Reconsideration of ROTC Report Sought

by Cindy Smyrniotis,
Current Staff Writer

At the urging of vice-president Ed Farrell, the Central Council Sunday passed a motion that the Faculty Senate reconsider its recent recommendations on a Reserve Officers Training Corps here.

The motion also included the Council's endorsement of a basically pro-ROTC Student-Faculty ad hoc committee report on the program.

The Senate April 9 voted that no further credit be awarded for ROTC classwork, that commissioning ceremonies be excluded from graduation exercises, and that the present transfer program with Washington University be continued.

If the ROTC program at Washington University, now under review, is discontinued the Senate voted to seek to provide some kind of program with the Department of Defense paying all costs.

The report endorsed by the Council would permit the use of on campus facilities with the university paying administrative costs and the federal government paying for facilities. The report recommends that up to 12 hours of credit be allowed for ROTC courses after being reviewed by accrediting committees. It also includes a provision that ROTC instructors be given some sort of faculty status, a section omitted by the Faculty Senate.

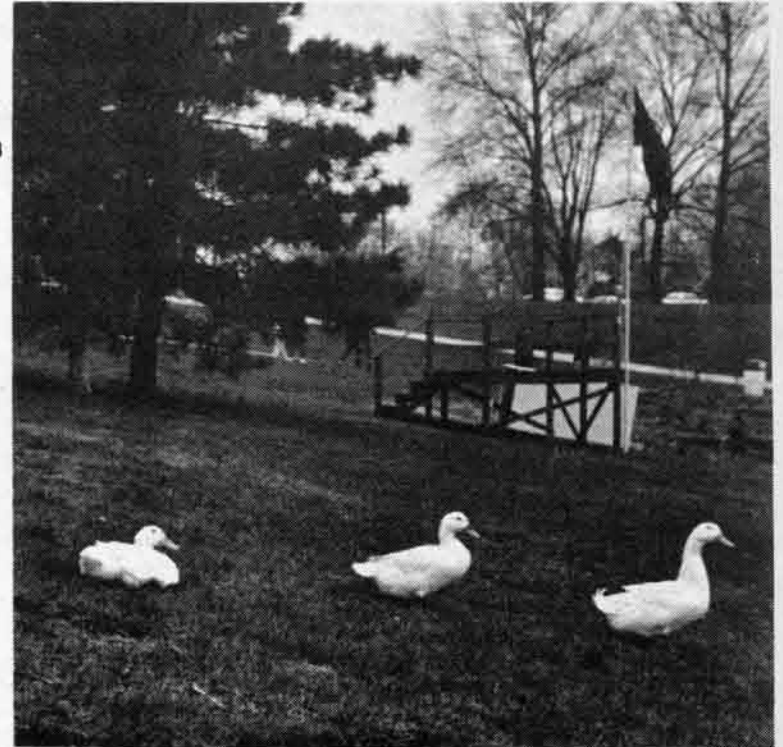

The only point agreed upon by both the Council and the Senate is that commissioning ceremonies be left out of graduation.

Both Farrell and representative John Heithaus, the sponsor of the motion, told the Current that they felt that the recent poll on ROTC had shown overwhelming student support for a program here. In the poll, 75 per cent of the students and 65 per cent of the faculty voted that the university should make ROTC available "in some form" to students.

"The Senate," Heithaus asserted, "decided the issue on ideological grounds completely, disregarding the opinions of the students as expressed in the referendum." In other business, president Barry Kaufman announced his intentions of tightening up the committee structure of the Council. He stressed that "this year it was too haphazard to the extent that any Council member who wanted to be a voting member of a committee only needed to attend the meeting." He favored a more formalized committee membership.

Kaufman also said that he would meet with Dean of Student Affairs David Ganz and Business Manager John Perry to discuss what he feels are high prices in the bookstore.

Education Students to Go to Weaver

Valerie Mackler, the leader of a group of special education students seeking to have a course required for graduation scheduled this summer, has set April 25 as the "final deadline" to receive a response from Chancellor Glen R. Driscoll before taking their request to university president John C. Weaver.

"If the Chancellor has nothing new to offer, we are definitely going to Columbia to see president Weaver," Mrs. Mackler said.

The groups spoke to Driscoll about the scheduling of the course, "Speech and Language Problems of the Mentally Retarded", on March 30 after officials of the School of Education informed them that the course would not be offered this summer. The students claim that they had not received any prior notification that the course would only be offered during the fall semester of the 1969-70 school year.

Budget Cuts

Governor Warren E. Hearnes recommended to the Missouri legislature an $80.7 million 1970-71 appropriation for the University of Missouri last Monday, April 20. Hearnes' proposed budget, a $23.4 million cut from the University's request for $103 million, represents no increase from the 1969-70 university appropriation.

Hearnes' budget requests, released to the special session of the legislature, did not include a capital improvements recommendation for six million dollars for a physics-chemistry building and a general services-warehouse building for UMSL.

By-laws For U-Senate Introduced

Amendments of the faculty bylaws which would provide for student representation on a University Senate were given a first reading at a meeting of the faculty April 17. Faculty action on the amendments will begin tomorrow at a special meeting.

The proposed revisions would establish a University Senate with 75 faculty members and 25 student members. Both faculty and students on the Senate would be elected from within their individual school or college. Faculty members would serve for three years while student members would serve for one year.

THE NUMBER OF students to be elected from each school will be proportioned according to the number of full-time upperclass undergraduate students (students above freshman standing) and graduate students.

Students interested in running for the Senate would make their candidacy known to their respective dean no later than May 1. Elections would be held no later than May 15. Student representation cannot begin this year, however, since the Board of Curators will receive the bylaws for approval no earlier than June.

The number of students serving on Senate committees would be expanded under the proposed bylaw revisions. Students would be included on five committees on which there are currently no student members.

THE COMMITTEE ON Appointments, Tenure, and Promotion would be restricted to seniors and graduate students. Other committees to have student members for the first time would be the Committee on Committees, the Committee on Faculty Research and Publication, the Committee on Fiscal Resources and Long-Range Planning, and the Committee on Welfare and Grievances.

The Committee on Welfare and Grievances would replace the present committee which handles faculty grievances only. The new committee would consist of six full professors holding tenure appointments and six students with the students and faculty members serving on separate subcommittees.

Each subcommittee would hear grievances from its own constituency unless one or more persons involved in the presentation of the grievance requests a hearing before the whole committee. Faculty removal cases and cases involving tenure rights would be heard only by the faculty subcommittee. Matters which pertain to several segments of the university community would be heard by the entire committee.

STUDENT MEMBERSHIP on four committees would be increased. The Committee on Curriculum and Instruction, the Committee on Admissions and Student Aid, the Committee on the University Library, and the Committee on Student Affairs would each have two additional student members, bringing the number of students on these committees to four.

Student representation on the four remaining Senate committees would be unchanged. The only committee on which student membership would not be assured would be the Executive Committee, which would consist of the chairman and secretary of the Executive Committee, elected by the Senate, and the chairmen of the standing committees. Student membership on the committees would vary from 15 per cent on the Committee on Faculty Research and Publication to 50 per cent on the Committee on Welfare and Grievances.

The proposed bylaws would allow either the faculty or the student government to request reconsideration of Senate decisions. Review of Senate action would be

General Waste-more-land Here

An anti-war activist toured the UMSL campus Monday, promising to end the war in Vietnam "so that all the GIs can come home to visit Bob Hope."

Decorated with medals, ribbons, and plastic airplanes, General Waste-more-land appeared to announce the establishment of the Pentagon West "in competition as allowed under the free enterprise system."

Carrying newspapers with large, dark headlines proclaiming the end to war, the General from Berkeley, California, is campaigning for "love and peace and all the Armed Forces abroad."

Accompanied by his aid, General Hershey Bar, Waste-more-land commented that he thought that the war effort had been dealt a serious setback by failing to win the Good Housekeeping Seal of approval.

Passing out "declassification" deferments to students, the General appeared somewhat harried, but remarked that this was typical of all Pentagon officials.

Campus Odyssey

The Student Activities Planning Committee will sponsor '8001: A Campus Odyssey,' a weekend of events Friday and Saturday May 8-9, including a dance atop the east parking-garage. Student I.D. cards are required for all activities.

Friday, May 8, there will be a concert on the hill overlooking Bugg Lake, beginning at 8:30p.m., featuring Chuck Mitchell and Ted Anderson. In the event of rain the concert will be transferred to 105 Benton.

Saturday night there will be a dance on the top level of the east parking-garage. In the event of rain it will be held on the second level.

At the same time there will be a concert by Chuck Mitchell in the Administration Building Cafeteria.

The UMSL Young Republicans were awarded "Outstanding College Young Republican Club" at the College Young Republicans State Convention in Columbia April 11.

UMSL's Club beat out four other finalists which included University of Missouri-Columbia, Longview College, University of Missouri-Kansas City, Southwest Missouri State, and Central Methodist College. The award was presented by Assistant Attorney General Christopher "Kit" Bond (left) candidate for State Auditor, to Phil Riek, treasurer of UMSL's Club.

Math Speaker

Dr. Don Mittleman, director of the computing center at the University of Notre Dame, will speak April 27 on "The Computer as a Tool in Mathematics and Data Processing." His lecture is scheduled for 2:40 in room 100, Clark Hall. It is sponsored by the Mathematics Department and the Mathematics Association of America.

considered by the faculty, the student members of the Senate, and the student government, providing that the total number of students does not exceed one-third the number of faculty members. Amendments to the bylaws would require majority approval of the same combined body.

THE AD HOC committee recommended that the three-to-one faculty-to-student membership ratio be achieved over a three year period. Faculty members presently on the Senate would serve out their terms, with 25 faculty representatives being elected each year. The new Senate would have 85 faculty members the first year. Faculty membership will decrease by five members each year until

All revisions to the bylaws must be approved by university president John C. Weaver and the Board of Curators. Chancellor Glen R.

Driscoll stated at the April 17 meeting that approval by the Board could not be expected before its regular June meeting. He said that Weaver and the Board members would want to study the revisions before approving them.

The Central Council approved the bylaw revisions at its April 19 meeting. Some dissatisfaction with the number of student members on the library and student affairs committees was expressed by representative Roy Billington. Billington maintained that more students should be members of these committees.

THE PROPOSED amendments are the report of an ad hoc committee established by the faculty to revise the present bylaws. Members of the committee were Dr. Donald Driemeier, chairman, Dr. James Doyle, and Herb Bittner, chief justice of the Student Court.

UMSL CURRENT

The UMSL CURRENT is the official student publication of the University of Missouri-St. Louis. It is printed weekly and funded through the Student Activities Fee. ## New ECC Constitution Okayed by Large Margin

Evening College students approved a constitution for the Evening College Council by a 465-11 vote April 15.

The constitution, which provides for the election to the Evening College Council of one representative for every 500 evening students, was designed to increase evening students' influence on the budgeting of Student Activities funds.

ECC president Rita Swiener said that the ECC had been criticized for being unrepresentative under its old bylaws when it was open to all evening students.

Election of representatives will be some time in May.

Central Council representatives Jean Heithaus (left) and Margie Kranzberg (right) have been appointed Council secretary and treasurer, respectively. President Barry Kaufman said that he had selected them for the positions because of their experience and because they received the highest number of votes in the recent day representative elections. Miss Heithaus served as Council secretary for the past year.

Other appointments and committee chairmanships approved were: Dan Sullivan, Rules; John Oleski Curriculum; Peter Muckerman, Appointments and Elections; Mike O'Hearn, Grievance; Keith Kramer, Publicity and Publications; and John Heithaus, parliamentarian.

Alpha Xi News

ALPHA XI DELTA would like to congratulate Barry Kaufman, Ed Farrell, and all the winning candidates on the Get Results ticket. We hope that they will get results, and we will be there if they need any help.

All of the Alpha Xi's are looking forward to Greek Week. Besides being busy with our games and songs, we are also working for our Woman of the Year and Princess Athena candidates. Sherry Gaston and Jo Ann Prokopchuk are our candidates for Woman of the Year, and Debbie Pelant and Kathy O'Hearn have been nominated as Princess Athena.

Besides Greek Week, the Alpha Xi's just had a picnic with Sigma Tau Gamma on April 19th, but because of the rain it had to be moved inside. We would like to congratulate Sue Shuman for being nominated to Sig Tau's White Rose Court. We also had a lot of fun at our Founder's Day Banquet on April 18th. We met a lot of our alums and look forward to meeting more of them this summer.

Our pledge class of twelve girls is busy working on their skit for Greek Week, besides being busy with their bake sale program.

Faulty Logic in Bid For Pro-ROTC Faculty Report

It is admirable that the Central Council this year appears more determined to influence campus life by fighting for what it feels are the wishes of the student body. But, in requesting that the Faculty Senate reconsider its recommendations on a Reserve Officers Training Corps program here, the Council has misconstrued the nature of the recent referendum on ROTC.

Proponents of ROTC claim that the fact that 75 per cent of the student body and 65 per cent of the faculty favored a program means that the demand for a program is great. We suggest that they take another look at the first question on the referendum ballot. The question asked is whether the university should continue to make ROTC available "in some form." To us, that says that the Faculty Senate's recommendation that the present transfer program with Washington University be continued fulfills that demand. Nowhere is it said that a ROTC program should be offered from an on-campus facility.

The claim that the other four questions on the ballot also demonstrate the overwhelming demand for ROTC is only partly legitimate. The questions are predicated on the supposition that a program would be offered here. Naturally the student body would then want academic credit and on-campus facilities if ROTC were an integral curriculum here and not a cooperative arrangement. But, in the poll, the faculty voted decisively against these two things and against faculty rank for ROTC instructors. Consequently, we feel that the whole question of credit, location of facilities, and faculty status should be settled when the university has definitely committed itself to a separate ROTC program for UMSL.

One claim made at the Council meeting especially bothers us, since it was an untrue statement. The final report containing the Faculty Senate's recommendations to Chancellor Glen Driscoll did not pass by the tie-breaking vote of the Senate chairman, Dr. James N. Primm. No doubt there was a misunderstanding on this point, but it probably swung some votes in favor of the reconsideration action. The final vote, as reported earlier, was 29-22. Earlier, Dr. Primm had to break a tie vote on a section that was eventually deleted from the final report.

We feel that the Faculty Senate's report is the best one possible considering that the university is on an austerity budget this year and probably will be for the next few years. The university does not have the money to put up the funds required for a ROTC program which, contrary to the ideas of proponents, does cost money. The suggestion that the Department of Defense is literally begging for schools to accept ROTC programs is exaggerated, since the waiting list of schools asking for the program hasn't yet been shuffled into some forgotten file drawer.

Whether or not the proponents of ROTC care to notice, activists in the St. Louis area violently opposed to the imperialism they say is symbolized by ROTC are determined to physically handicap and inconvenience it wherever it is located.

Chancellor Driscoll will soon make his recommendations on ROTC to university president John C. Weaver and the Board of Curators. We urge that he endorse the report approved by the Faculty Senate as the most feasible alternative at this time. ROTC has a place in society, but it is not on this campus now.

Students Boon To School Government

Debate on the amendments to the University Bylaws--amendments which include 25 student and 75 faculty representatives on a University Senate--begins tomorrow, more than a year since then--Chancellor James L. Bugg, first proposed adding students to the Faculty Senate. And although the members of the Senate seem to find any and all proposals debatable, we anticipate that the amendments will be approved by the Senate with little difficulty, if not with little discussion. This approval will be wise, and the sooner the faculty dispenses with the matter, the sooner the amendments can be sent to the Board of Curators for their approval.

The addition of students to the University Senate will, of course, provide no panacea for UMSL government; it will probably have little impact for good or for ill. In two senses, however, the inclusion of students on the Senate will be valuable.

First, students can contribute a fresh and significant perspective on university affairs. The University Senate presently represents the views of the administration and the faculty, but any student input comes through informal contact between students and faculty outside the context of the Senate. No matter how great, no matter how active the imaginations of the faculty, their perspective is that of teacher, not that of student. University government requires that the attitudes of the variety of the university community be represented.

There is a second way in which the inclusion of students can prove significant; they can encourage the faculty representatives to shape up. It is a truism, as anyone who bothers to attend Faculty Senate meetings soon learns, that many of the faculty view the Senate as either a nuisance or a farce. The quorum, when achieved, is seldom great and easily lost. Parliamentary procedure, a device designed to produce orderly meetings and to lessen confusion, entangles the faculty members who: a) do not understand the procedure, or b) do not care for the procedure and seek to establish their own when it is convenient, or c) do not even listen to the proceedings. Consequently, a great part of every meeting is taken up by trying to figure out what the motion on the floor is, and whether or not an amendment is in- or out-of-order.

In fact, we would recommend that anyone who believes in government by an intellectual elite attend the next Senate meeting: his faith will be severely shaken--assuming, of course, that the members of the Faculty Senate are intellectual and/or an elite. What, for instance, is the first thing an instructor says when he enters a classroom, particularly a lecture hall, and sees his students clustered at the back of the room? He invariably says, in effect, move up to the front. Yet the uninitiated reporter who reaches the room where the Senate is to meet before the faculty gathers, and who sits near the front of the hall so that he may hear the discussion, soon finds himself three or four rows in front of the nearest teacher, and the debate going on behind him.

For this reason, especially, we would like to see students seated on the University Senate; not because we expect any sweeping reforms, but because we hope that the faculty will behave like intelligent, responsible individuals when in the presence of their students. After all, how can the teacher expect his students to behave in the classroom when the student sees the teacher whispering, snickering, and joking with his friends at a meeting of the Faculty Senate?

Little Ladies Versus the Establishment

Everyone knows that a bureaucracy moves slowly. Its members are so arranged that each one is able to sidestep blame for any actions and direct the plaintiff to somebody else until he (the plaintiff) is hopelessly confused and gives up.

The most recent example here is the conflict between a group of special education students and the School of Education over the offering of a course required for graduation this summer. These students have been shuffled around for almost a month without any firm answer. The whole attitude of administrative and faculty members seems to be to let the students fuss while the whole affair is quietly forgotten.

Admittedly it is a little late to ask for the scheduling of a course for the summer session. But the impossible has been accomplished with astonishing speed when the mood strikes people. So far, all these students have gotten is a lot of sympathy and very little else.

We wish the group the best of luck in their endeavor to bring the matter to university president John Weaver. Although a little quixotic, the attempt beats giving up because of a lack of response from campus officials.

The reaction of administrative officials has ranged from innocent ignorance to a shrug of the shoulders. However, someone in Benton Hall was thinking. It appears to be more than coincidence that two days after leaders of the group met with Chancellor Glen Driscoll, one of them was told that her transfer credits had been reviewed and that, with the loss of some hours, she would not be able to graduate this summer. Consequently, she was told, the course is not needed.

Administrative and faculty officials should be forewarned by their previous experiences with women: never underestimate the power of women determined to have their way.

With warm weather now prevalent, many students choose to sleep outside of classes as well as in them.

Anti-Female Bias In Advertising

It has achieved our objective of presenting on campus ideas for the development of the third Century of American Life. And the primary response to this effort has been rewarding: our inaugural program with Representative Jim Symington attracted the largest audience of the year for the Noonday Forum. Succeeding congressmen have been greeted by larger-than-average crowds.

But in one aspect CENTURY III has failed. We have failed to reconcile the opposing viewpoints on campus to one central idea: that we're all in the same boat; "that we shall all hang together or we shall all hang separately." And this failure - the pettiness of politics and egos - has prevented CENTURY III from becoming a united effort in cooperation for the great problems which lie ahead. We can only decry the pettiness of the several organizations which have refused to work with others in preparing for our common future. And we can only praise groups like the Students for Environmental Action who are not worried about their name or their politics - they are worried only about all of us surviving together.

In an effort to minimize these blind differences, then, the Alliance for Peace has decided to surrender its sponsorship of CENTURY III and to place it in the hands of a joint agency unassociated with political philosophy. We can only hope that all organizations and individuals will be willing to set aside their politics and join us in support of the Planning Committee in their efforts to set forth ideas for survival. As Charles F. Kettering advised us, "We should all be concerned with the future, for we shall all have to spend the rest of our lives there."

Good Editorial

Dear Editor:
 The Current is to be commended for its recent editorial entitled "The Vocal Minority." The recent behavior of some individuals, on both sides of the political spectrum, during activities at UMSL, is deplorable, particularly since many of these self-styled guardians of the public welfare are quick to raise the indignant cry of "factionalism" if their own point of view is not immediately acceptable to one and all. I would be most interested in learning how one acquires this moral superiority that allows him to arbitrarily shout down those who choose to disagree with him. Perhaps that is, in itself, the answer. After all, if one has "God" on one's side, what need is there to listen to mere mortals? What further justification is necessary?

Dear Editor,
 I am assuming that Bill Church of "Step Down" fame is the same

Bill Church who penned the "Garbage Can" that appeared on these pages.

There is a saying among those who work with computers that "if you put garbage in, you get garbage out"--and so it is with people. Church's writings are but a reflection of his life thus far, and so he is to be pitied.

Club Notes

A meeting of the New Democratic Coalition will be held April 29 at 11:40 in Room 100, Clark Hall.

Possible projects to be discussed include the language requirement, improvement of the pass-fail system, a teacher evaluation system, and the 18-year-old vote campaign.

Newly organized on campus, the NDC will involve itself in both campus and community action. The NDC is open to all students, faculty, and staff members, and welcomes suggestions for campus activities. Any interested persons should contact Judy Day, Room 438 Bento, 453-5681, 821-6034, 524-8572, or come to the April 29 meeting.

Dr. Randolph Edmonds, the first black elected to the Advisory Board of the American Educational Theater Association, will speak on "Black Theater in America" April 27 at 11:40 in room 100 Clark Hall. His lecture is being sponsored by the University Players.

Dr. Edmonds is a graduate of the Yale University School of Drama and is a recipient of a Rosenwald Fellowship to study the amateur theater of England, Scotland and Wales. He has had three volumes of plays published and these are among the most widely produced black plays in American educational theater.

Dr. Edmonds' visit is part of a grant from the university wide Undergraduate Education Improvement fund. This grant provided funds for Dr. Edmonds to spend a semester teaching at the University of Missouri-Kansas City. As part of this grant, Dr. Edmonds was made available for one lecture on each of the other campuses of the University of Missouri.

Dr. Nicholas Poloratzky, chairman of the Department of Slavic Languages and Literature at the University of Pittsburgh, will speak on April 27 at 12:40 in room 301, Benton Hall. His topic will be "The Prerevolutionary Russian Intelligentsia and the Vehky Controversy." The program, sponsored by the Russian section of the foreign language department along with the philosophy and history clubs, is open to the public.

All of us hate to see empty cans and bottles lousing up what's left of a beautiful country.

It's too bad packaging technology today isn't as exotic and convenient as the gimmicks and gadgets on the TV thrill shows; like you, we'd like nothing better than for every empty can and bottle to self-destruct. Someday, soon, things will be different, though...because we and a lot of other concerned people are all working on the problem in earnest.

Meantime, there is a foolproof way to keep cans and bottles from cluttering up the countryside, and you can do your part:

Please don't throw them there in the first place.

Proposed Bylaws For

Introduction

A major development of twentieth century higher education has been the establishment of the publicly supported urban university. This trend is an educational benchmark comparable to the creation of the land-grant institutions of the nineteenth century. It rests upon the premise that the university should be taken to the people rather than forcing the people to go to the university. The people of Missouri have subscribed to this concept with the creation of the University of Missouri-St. Louis -- an institution located in the midst of the metropolitan area, readily accessible to those who desire its services, sensitive to the needs and problems of the urban laboratory which is its environment, and eager for that kind of interaction which will mutually benefit the urban community and the University.

In keeping with this role, the University of Missouri-St. Louis needs to be governed in a manner which will ensure that responsibility for the direction of its programs shall be clearly defined and accompanied by appropriate authority, that interdependence among the governing board, administrative officers, faculty, and students of the University shall be recognized and encouraged, that the unique freedom and critical exploration which is essential in a distinguished university community shall be promoted, and that the widest possible exchange of information and opinion among the various elements of the University shall be assured. In short, the governing of the University must be a cooperative endeavor, sustained in an atmosphere of open communication, mutual understanding, and shared goals. If the various elements of the University are to avoid working at cross purposes, every effort must be made to establish and maintain these conditions of active cooperation.

To these desired ends, and subject to the Bylaws of the Board of Curators, the academic organization established herein provides for the formal governing of the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

I. Faculty

1. Membership

The faculty of the University of Missouri-St. Louis shall consist of the President, the Chancellor, all persons with regular full-time academic appointments, and others elected by the faculty. Elected members so designated by the faculty shall be non-voting members.

2. Functions

The University faculty, together with appropriate administrative officers, shall bear responsibility for educational policy, particularly in areas of curriculum, degree requirements, methods of instruction, research, requirements for admission, student affairs, and faculty status. The faculty may make recommendations to the Chancellor concerning general policy matters affecting the University. Where appropriate, the faculty may delegate its responsibility to separate schools or colleges within the University.

3. Meetings

The University faculty shall meet at least twice each year and at such additional time as the President, Chancellor, or the faculty itself may determine. Upon written request of twenty-five members of the faculty, the Chancellor shall call a meeting within two weeks.

The President, or in his absence the Chancellor, or in his absence a member of the faculty designated by the Chancellor, shall preside at each faculty meeting.

A quorum shall consist of ten percent of the voting members of the faculty.

Proceedings in faculty meetings shall be in accordance with the rules set forth in Robert's Rules of Order, except where otherwise provided for in these Bylaws or in the Regulations of the University.

The Chancellor shall appoint each year a Secretary of the faculty who shall keep an official record of the proceedings of each meeting and shall transmit copies of the minutes to each member of the faculty. A copy of the official minutes shall be kept on file in the offices of the Registrar and the Dean of Faculties and shall be available to each member of the faculty.

II. Student Body

1. Membership

The student body of the University of Missouri-St. Louis shall consist of all persons who are officially enrolled as regular full-time or part-time students in the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

2. Functions

The student body shall have the responsibility to participate in the formulation and application of educational policy, particularly in the areas of academic and student affairs. The student body may, through its official representatives, make recommendations to the Dean of Student Affairs or the Chancellor concerning general policy matters affecting the University.

3. Meetings and Officers

The meetings, officers, and governing organization of the student body shall be such as the student body itself shall determine through its adopted constitution and bylaws subject only to the approval of the Dean of Student Affairs and the Chancellor.

III. University Senate

1. Membership

The University Senate shall consist of the President, the Chancellor, the Dean of Faculties, deans of schools and colleges, Dean of Student Affairs, President of the student body, seventy-five members elected by the faculty, twenty-five members elected by the student body, administrative staff designated by the Chancellor as ex-officio non-voting members, and non-voting members designated by any academic department not otherwise represented by a faculty member of the Senate.

Elected faculty members of the Senate shall serve three-year staggered terms. Twenty-five members of the Senate shall be elected by the faculty each year. Elected student members of the Senate shall serve a term of one-year and shall be elected by the student body each year. Any elected member of the Senate may be re-elected. The term of office of all senators shall begin on the first day of September following their election.

Each year during the winter semester each school or college shall have allocated to it a number of faculty senators proportionate to the number of its voting faculty members as defined in Article I, Section 1 of these Bylaws. The faculty of each school or college shall nominate twice the number of senators allocated to it. Not later than May 15 of each year the University faculty shall elect the appropriate number of members of the Senate from each list of nominees.

Each year during the winter semester each school or college shall also have allocated to it a number of student senators in proportion to their number of full-time equivalent upperclassmen (sophomores, juniors, seniors) and graduate students. Members of the student body in good standing who have completed 12 hours of academic credit at the University of Missouri-St. Louis and who are interested in becoming members of the Senate shall make their candidacy known to their respective academic deans no later than May 1 of each year. Not later than May 15 of each year duly registered students in each school or college shall elect the appropriate number of student senators from their school or college from the list of eligible candidates making themselves available.

Any academic department of any school or college not represented on the Senate by a faculty senator shall be entitled to designate one of its faculty members as a non-voting member of the Senate.

2. Functions

It shall be the responsibility of the Senate to exercise on a continuous basis the functions of the faculty and student body as previously defined. The Senate shall report its actions to all members of the University faculty and to appropriate officers of the student body. Either the faculty or the governing organization of the student body shall have authority to request reconsideration of any action of the Senate. Review of any Senate action shall be conducted jointly by the faculty, the student members of the Senate, and the members of the governing organization of the student body. A meeting to review Senate action may be requested by ten percent of the membership of the combined group.

Should the total number of student senators and the members of the governing organization of the student body ever exceed one-third of the University faculty, the governing organization of the student body shall limit its representation at the combined meeting so that the total student representation shall not exceed one-third of the total possible faculty representation.

3. Meetings and Officers

The University Senate shall meet regularly each month or in special meetings as called by the Executive Committee of the Senate. The Executive Committee shall call a special meeting of the Senate on request of the Chancellor or of any five members of the Senate. A quorum shall consist of fifty-one voting members of the Senate. Within two weeks following each election, the newly constituted Senate shall meet for the sole purpose of selecting the Chairman of the Executive Committee, the Secretary of the Senate, and the Committee on Committees.

The elective officers of the Senate shall be the Chairman of the Executive Committee and the Secretary of the Senate, both of whom must be voting members of the Senate. The elective officers of the Senate shall serve for one year, beginning on the first day of September following their election. The elective officers may be re-elected.

The Chairman of the Executive Committee, or in his absence a voting member of the Senate designated by the Chairman, shall be the presiding officer at each meeting of the Senate. The Secretary of the Senate shall distribute the agenda to all members of Senate in advance of each meeting, shall keep minutes of each meeting of the Senate, and shall distribute a copy of the minutes of each meeting to all members of the University faculty and appropriate officers of the student body.

4. Committees of the University Senate

All members of the faculty, administrative staff and student body shall be eligible to serve on Senate committees.

With the exception of the Committee on Committees and Executive Committee, the standing committees of the Senate shall be elected each year at the first regular meeting of the Senate. At least half the elected members of each standing and ad hoc committee of the Senate shall be voting members of the Senate. Faculty members of all committees except the Committee on Committees and Executive Committee shall be elected for two-year terms, with half the faculty members to be replaced each year. Student members of all committees shall be elected for one-year terms, which may be renewed. Immediately following its election, each standing committee shall be convened by the faculty member of the committee whose surname appears first in the alphabet. As its first order of business, each committee shall elect a chairman, who must be a voting member of the Senate.

In their deliberations the committees shall where appropriate consult widely with the Chancellor or other administrative officers, with representatives of the separate schools and colleges, with departments and concerned faculty, and with students and student organizations. Committee recommendations shall be made to the Senate or to the appropriate administrative officer. Each recommendation shall be reported to the Senate.

The University Senate shall establish the following standing committees:

a. Committee on Committees

The Committee on Committees shall consist of the Dean of Faculties and ten voting members of the Senate, to include one faculty member from each school and college and three student members. The members of the Committee shall serve for one year. They shall be elected at a special meeting of the University Senate called in the spring each year immediately following the election of the Senate. The Committee shall be convened by the Dean of Faculties and shall as its first order of business elect a chairman.

It shall be the responsibility of the Committee to nominate for election by the Senate: (1) members of all standing committees of the Senate; (2) members of ad hoc committees of the Senate, when so instructed by the Senate. Where appropriate, the Committee shall nominate members of state-wide standing and ad hoc committees for election by the Senate or appointment by the Chancellor.

In preparing lists of nominees, the Committee shall consult with the Chancellor, the academic deans, Dean of Student Affairs, department chairmen, and officers of the student body.

Nominations made by the Committee shall be presented to the Senate for its approval at its first regular meeting of the academic year. Members of the Senate shall have the right to make additional nominations from the floor.

b. Executive Committee

The Executive Committee shall consist of the Chairman of the Executive Committee, the Secretary of the Senate, and the chairman of each standing committee of the Senate.

It shall be the responsibility of the Executive Committee:

- (1) To call regular and special meetings of the Senate and to prepare and distribute the agenda prior to each meeting.
- (2) To coordinate the work and activities of the Senate and of Senate committees.
- (3) To meet regularly and frequently with the Chancellor to discuss matters of University policy.
- (4) As an agency of the Senate, to maintain avenues of communication with the University faculty, with campus administrative officers and, through the office of the Chancellor, with state-wide administrative officers and the governing board of the University.

c. Committee on Curriculum and Instruction

The Committee on Curriculum and Instruction shall consist of the Dean of Faculties, the Director of Admissions, eight members of the faculty, which shall include at least one member from each school or college, and four student members who are broadly representative of the various divisions of the Universities. All faculty and student members shall be elected by the Senate. The committee shall have general responsibility for educational programs of the University and for developing and recommending to the Senate policies regarding University graduation requirements, special honors programs, curriculum and official publications. It shall consider and recommend to the Senate general policies of the University governing the evaluation of academic instruction and advisement; means of promoting and rewarding effective academic instruction; the securing and maintaining of an effective system of academic advisement; the calendar of the University and general policies relating to the schedule of classes, classroom assignments, and the schedule of final examinations; and means of relating faculty scholarship and research to the teaching function of the University. New degrees, degree programs, and curricular changes proposed by the separate schools and colleges of the University shall be transmitted by the appropriate dean to the Committee for its recommendation or report to the Senate.

University Senate

d. Committee on Appointments, Tenure and Promotion

The Committee shall consist of the Dean of Faculties as chairman, eight full professors holding tenure appointments, and two student members who shall have senior or graduating standing at the time of their election. Members other than the chairman shall be elected by the Senate and shall be broadly representative of the various academic disciplines, schools, and college. Student members shall have the same voting powers as faculty members except when the majority of the Committee deems this contrary to the performance of its functions.

Initial academic appointments to the University recommended as tenure appointments shall be submitted by the department concerned through the dean of the appropriate school or college. The dean shall forward the department's recommendations for approval or disapproval. After consideration, the Committee on Appointments, Tenure and Promotion shall submit its recommendations to the Chancellor through the Dean of Faculties.

Tenure recommendations for faculty holding term appointments, and recommendations for promotion above the rank of assistant professor, shall be made in accordance with the procedure outlined above.

Appeals from recommendations of the Committee shall be submitted directly to the Chancellor and through him to the President and the Board of Curators.

It shall be the responsibility of this Committee, together with the appropriate administrative officers, to establish, develop and maintain in all areas of the University the highest standards of faculty quality.

e. Committee on Faculty Research and Publication

The Committee shall consist of the Dean of Faculties, the Dean of the Graduate School, the Director of Research Administration, and eight faculty members and two student members elected by the Senate. Its members shall be broadly representative of the various academic disciplines and shall be selected with due regard for their research and academic interests. It shall be the responsibility of the Committee to:

- (1) Review applications for University support of research and make recommendations to the appropriate administrative officers;
- (2) Advise administrative officers on matters of policy pertaining to the Office of Research Administration;
- (3) Consider and recommend to the Senate policies encouraging and supporting University research activities.

f. Committee on Admissions and Student Aid

The Committee shall consist of the Dean of Faculties, the Director of Admissions, four faculty members elected by the Senate (one of whom shall be chairman of the Committee), two student members elected by the Senate, and two faculty members and two student members appointed by the Chancellor.

The Committee shall form two sub-committees: a Sub-Committee on Admissions and a Sub-Committee on Student Aid. Each sub-committee shall consist of the Dean of Faculties, the Director of Admissions and three faculty members and two students elected from the Committee. The sub-committee shall consider individual cases presented by the Director of Admissions and shall make recommendations to the Committee. The Committee shall:

- (1) Recommend policies and procedures to the University Senate relating to admissions and student aid;
- (2) Review on a periodic basis admission and student aid activities and report to the Senate.

g. Committee on the University Library

The Committee shall consist of the Dean of Faculties, the University Librarian, four faculty members and two student members elected by the Senate, and four faculty members and two student members appointed by the Chancellor.

- The Committee shall:
- (1) Recommend and review Senate policies and procedures for the library and submit reports to the Senate;
  - (2) Advise the Senate on recommendations to the Chancellor regarding policies for the disbursement of library funds;

- (3) Submit recommendations to the Chancellor on the disbursement of current library funds.

h. Committee on Welfare and Grievances

The committee shall consist of six full professors holding tenure appointments and six student members, all elected by the Senate. Its membership shall be broadly representative of the various academic disciplines, schools and colleges. No faculty member involved in a substantial way in administrative work above the level of department chairman shall be eligible.

The Committee shall be divided into two sub-committees; one consisting of faculty members, and the other consisting of student members of the whole committee.

- (1) The sub-committee comprised of faculty members shall conduct hearings in all removal cases or in all disputed cases involving tenure rights and status as provided for in the Academic Tenure Regulations of the University of Missouri.
- (2) Each sub-committee shall hear grievances and suggestions submitted by members of its own constituency. Except that any person or persons may request that matter be heard by the whole committee.
- (3) The committee and its sub-committees shall invite the presentation of grievances or suggestions from all segments of the University community. Matters which pertain to several segments of the University community shall be heard by the whole Committee.
- (4) The Committee shall explore methods for improving the status and condition of all members of the University community.
- (5) When it is deemed appropriate, the Committee shall make recommendations to the Senate, the Chancellor or other University officers.

i. Committee on Student Affairs

The Committee shall consist of the Dean of Student Affairs, four faculty members and four student members elected by the Senate, and two faculty members and two student members appointed by the Chancellor. Its members shall be broadly representative of the various academic disciplines, schools and colleges.

The Committee on Student Affairs shall be responsible for recommending and reviewing policy in the areas of musical, dramatic and forensic events; campus events involving outside speakers and programs; group recognition; student regulations; and alumni affairs. The responsibilities of the Committee may be exercised by sub-committees established in any of these areas. Faculty and staff members with administrative responsibilities in the various area of student affairs shall be members of the sub-committees dealing with those areas.

j. Committee on Student Publications

The Committee shall consist of the Editor of the Current, two faculty members and two student members elected by the Senate and faculty or staff members appointed by the Chancellor. The Committee on Student Publications shall be responsible for recommending and reviewing policy concerning student publications.

k. Committee on Athletics

The Committee shall consist of the Director of Athletics, two faculty members and two student members elected by the Senate, and two faculty members appointed by the Chancellor. The Committee on Athletics shall be responsible for recommending and reviewing policy concerning intramural and intercollegiate athletics.

l. Committee on Fiscal Resources and Long-Range Planning

The Committee shall consist of the Chancellor, who shall serve as chairman of the Committee, the Dean of Faculties, the Business Officer of the University, two faculty members and one student member elected by the Senate, two faculty members and one student member appointed by the Chancellor, and such additional members as the Chancellor may appoint.

The Committee shall examine general budgetary allocations and priorities, shall consider questions relating to the development of the University and to statewide University affairs, and shall make recommendations on development and fiscal matters to the Chancellor. The Committee shall report periodically to the Senate on its work.

m. Committee on Urban Affairs

The Committee shall consist of the Dean of Faculties, the Dean of Extension, the Director of the Center of Community and Metropolitan Studies and six faculty members and two student members elected by the Senate.

It shall be the responsibility of the Committee to develop recommendations for the Chancellor and the Senate regarding urban-related programs in the areas of educational programs and degrees, research and urban studies, and programs of service for the metropolitan region. The Committee shall work to coordinate activities in these areas carried on by various schools and departments of the University, the Center of Community and Metropolitan Studies, and the Extension Division.

n. Committee on International Studies

The Committee shall consist of the Dean of Faculties, the Director of the campus Center for International Studies, and six faculty members and two student members elected by the Senate.

The Committee shall work closely with the campus Center for International Studies in the development of educational, research, and service programs relating to foreign area and international studies.

o. Ad Hoc Committees

As the need arises the Senate shall establish or recommend to the Chancellor establishment of ad hoc committees.

- (1) Ad hoc Senate committees shall be established through Senate approval of nominees selected from the faculty and the student body by the Senate Committee on Committees or by nomination from the floor of the Senate.
- (2) Ad hoc Administrative-Senate committees shall be recommended to the Chancellor by the Senate to include a specified number of appointive and elective members. The elective members shall be chosen by the Senate as provided above.
- (3) Ad hoc Administrative committees shall be appointed by the Chancellor, to whom they shall report. Other ad hoc committees shall report to the Senate or the Chancellor.

IV. Amendments

These Bylaws shall be amended or repealed in the following manner:

- (1) Copies of proposed changes in the Bylaws shall be circulated to each member of the faculty, each student member of the University Senate, and each member of the governing organization of the student body one week in advance of a combined meeting of these groups at which they are to be given a first reading. Following an interval of at least one week, the proposed changes shall be given a second reading and shall be considered for adoption.
- (2) Any Bylaw change shall be adopted on an affirmative vote of the majority of those present and voting at a combined meeting of the University faculty, student members of the University Senate and the members of the governing organization of the student body. A quorum shall be considered to be ten percent of the total membership of these combined groups.
- (3) Should the total number of student senators and the members of the governing organization of the student body ever exceed one-third of the University faculty, the governing organization of the student body shall limit its representation at the combined meeting so that the total student representation shall not exceed one-third of the total possible faculty representation.

Addendum

Tau Kappa Epsilon

What is it like to be the youngest fraternity on campus? The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon know what it's like. It's like being the new kid on the block, the new guy at school. To be noticed, you have to do something special. You have to have something on the ball.

The TEKES have found that, with the established, strongly manned fraternities to contend with, they had to work to gain recognition, have had to work to establish themselves, and will have to work to get to the top.

Top spot, that's where the TEKES are headed. And we will get there soon because we have something special, we have something on the ball.

For example, our miniskirt dance was a tremendous success, pulling in a larger crowd than at any previous mixer. The blood drive we co-sponsored received wide community recognition. Our new eight-week pledge period is a successful innovation. Our annual Huck Finn party is always out of sight!

We are backed by the largest national fraternity---290 other chapters, 80,000 TEKES.

We know we aren't on top yet-but give us another year-we'll be there. By the way, if you think you're something special, look for a TEKE during Greek Week and tell him---he'll know what you're talking about.

TEKE IS TUFF

Delta Zeta

As the pictures show, spirit is high in Delta Zeta. Ever since 1969, DZ has been moving forward. During Greek Week '69 we received awards for first place in the Greek Sing, first place in pledge skits, first place in women's games, the Participation Award, and Tammie Layton was named Greek Woman of the Year. That was only the beginning. Since then we have worked hard to develop the sorority in all aspects.

We plan to make some of the social functions we sponsored annual. Our Fall Formal was held in November at the Colony Motor Inn, and will be held annually. Because of the success of our Awards Banquet, held at Chesire Inn, it will definitely be annual. Through social functions we have tried to promote good relations with other Greek organizations. We sponsored a social for Alpha Xi Delta and Beta Sigma Gamma in December, and also a fraternity round-table in which a Greek man's idea of a sorority girl was discussed. We have also participated in pledge trades with Sigma Pi, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Tau Gamma.

We had bake sales to raise money to send to Gallaudet College for the Deaf, our National philanthropy. We also sent supplies and magazines to the Navajo Indians, and to a patient at Carville, a healthcenter for victims of Hansen's disease. We went Christmas caroling, gave cookies to St. Vincent's Children's Home at Christmas, and gave blood to the Red Cross Blood Drive.

All DZ's try to be active members of the UMSL community. Kathy Hoppe was recently elected secretary of the Steamers. Jan Arnicar is vice-president of the Russian Club and newly elected representative to the Central Council. Who's Who on Campus includes Bev Brickey and Linda Siesener. We were all proud and happy when Linda Siesener was crowned Miss UMSL in December.

After Greek Week the year is almost over, but we have already begun to plan for the fall, hoping for even more success next year.

AEPi

We of Alpha Epsilon Pi feel that joining a fraternity and a commuter campus is very important. Although much of your time is spent in classrooms, still more is spent out. For this reason, we feel that being part of a fraternity can be one of your most rewarding experiences.

AEPi has combined the traditional fraternity system with the changes the American campus is facing. The result of this combination is a fraternity that enables you to belong to a prestige group, and still maintain your individuality.

This past year, AEPi led the campus organizations with a 3.0 active grade point average. AEPi also has been a leader at UMSL, with numerous members in student government, including Barry Kaufman, recently elected president of the Central Council.

We have also been active socially, among other things sponsoring two all-school mixers, including the "Great Pumpkin", a Halloween party with over 600 people in attendance.

The men of Alpha Epsilon Pi are looking forward to meeting you, and would like to wish you the best of luck in your college careers.

Beta

We use the symbol of the flower because we feel that we are the newest and the freshest sorority on campus. Since the time that Beta Sigma Gamma was first organized in September '69, we have incorporated the flower in our ideas and our activities.

We have participated in the normal round of sorority activities; bake sales, rush parties, kidnap parties, Christmas caroling, intramural volleyball, car washes, slave auctions, a toll road, dinners, and teas.

Sigma

During Homecoming this year, we were the first on campus to sell mum corsages.

Other activities include a soccer game with Sigma Tau Gamma, a brunch with Sigma Sigma Sigma, a mixer with Sigma Pi, and an Easter-egg hunt with Sigma Tau Gamma for Bel-Ridge school children.

In the Homecoming Parade, again using the theme of flowers, we won the trophy for our car decoration.

Plans for the future include a mother-daughter tea, as well as a fashion show in May, with clothes from the "Gazebo" in Mansion House. Next year we will hold our first all-school mixer on the twenty-fifth of September. We'd like to have you with us!

Gamma

During Rush Week, we doubled our membership with the largest pledge class of any this year. In the activation ceremony, each pledge was presented with a flower, the symbol of our sisterhood.

Sigma Pi

A Man's Fraternity

FANTASTIC! That's the word for the men of Sigma Pi. In the fall intramural season, our football team wound up with a 7-1 record and set the school scoring record with a 62-0 win. For the last three seasons we have won our league championship, twice winning the school championship, with an overall record for four years of 29-2. We have also won the co-ed volleyball championship. Having all but swept the fall sports scene, the brothers are eager to make this Sigma Pi's best year yet.

The float "Whip the Panthers" that we entered in the competition at Homecoming came out with first place and brought the traveling trophy into our collection.

In addition to these achievements, we were recently named the Outstanding chapter in our Province. Other chapters in the Province are from Columbia, Rolla, St. Louis U., Warrensburg and Springfield.

We are looking forward to Greek Week with anticipation and desire. We feel we have the potential to win this, the last big competitive event of the year, and make '69-'70 a clean sweep for Sigma Pi.

Yes, FANTASTIC is the word for the men of Sigma Pi, but our many accomplishments in the past year have been due entirely to the feeling of brotherhood and unity which has been ever present in our fraternity, and which is even more FANTASTIC than any competitive victory we might win. Our "Winning Tradition" is just an external expression of our fraternalism and our pride in Sigma Pi.

Alpha Xi Delta

The sisters of Alpha Xi Delta believe that teamwork is an important part of their social and service life. Alpha Xi's worked at the Skinker-De Baliviere Community Center. Recently, the orphans from St. Vincent's were AZ guests for an Easter-egg hunt. At Christmas time, besides a formal dance, Alpha Xi raises funds for charity. Family life isn't left out either. We plan on holding our annual mother-daughter tea in May, and a father-daughter picnic in June, including a barbecue (COUGH) and a baseball game (OUCH). Our fall pledge class is busy with their own kind of teamwork while they are planning their own projects. Pledge trainer, Jeri Hungerford, along with pledge president, Ellen Brinner, are sure to be planning exciting events for the future.

Several Alpha Xis have won various honors. Sue Moutrie was crowned Princess Athena during Greek Week of 1969. She also was a maid in this year's Homecoming Court. Barb Fritz and Sherry Gaston were members of the 69-70 Miss UMSL Court. Donna Finazzo, Sue Moutrie, Kathy O'Hearn and Joann Prokopchuk were selected as members of Pi Kappa Alpha's Dream Girl Court for 1970.

Connie Ellebrecht has been an active member of Central Council and ran as an elected representative this semester. Sherry Gaston and Joann Prokopchuk have been honored with the title of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Scholastically, Alpha Xi Delta's are encouraged to make top grades. A scholarship dinner is held at the end of each semester, awarding those girls with a 3.0 or better with a steak dinner. Those girls with grades below 3.0 are awarded with "beans." It turns out that about one-third of the Alpha Xi's make the Dean's List and enjoy steak!

The girls showed their athletic ability in the I-M volleyball games. At homecoming, the Alpha Xis worked hard to build the steamboat which we launched in the annual homecoming parade. We were instrumental in starting many new traditions on campus--the Sadie Hawkins mixer has been successful every year. Our newest annual event is the faculty children's Christmas party. Many of the young children of our faculty members attended the party which we sponsored with APO.

Alpha Xi's have promoted many intergreek activities also. We led the fraternities and sororities in a Greek Sing in the fall, and had football games and pledge exchanges with the fraternities. We went Christmas caroling with Pi Kappa Alpha and had an intersorority party with Delta Zeta and Beta Sigma Gamma.

We've had many activities for our sisters throughout the year. Our hayrides, Christmas Formal, spring dances, Showboat party, swim splash-ins, weekend retreat are just a few examples of Alpha Xi fun!

Why Fraternities?

Many people ask why fraternities should exist? What purpose can they serve in the complex environment of an urban university? We feel the answers were best given by our founders over a century ago . . .

ΠΚΑ

Bust Out!

This year, Pi Kappa Alpha will present the fifth annual June Bust-Out. Two thousand people are expected to invade Chuck Berry's Country Club near Wentzville on Thursday, June 4th. The Bust-Out is traditionally held on the last day of finals, beginning at noon and lasting until all is over.

The Country Club features a dance hall, swimming pool, tennis and basketball courts, a refreshment stand and even a fishing lake; all spread out over acres of land with plenty of room for everyone. Music will be provided by "Free Enterprise" and "T. J. & the Illusions". This year to make the Bust-Out even better, Falstaff will sponsor a Mini-500 Tricycle Race with contestants from UMSL, St Louis U., and Washington U. The prizes will be $125.00 for first place, $75 for second place, and $25.00 for third place. Also there will be $25.00 for the girl's team that places highest without being in the first three. Trophies, jerseys, and other prizes will also be awarded. Tickets can be purchased from any member of Pi Kappa Alpha for $3.00 per person, or at the gate for $3.50. REMEMBER, June 4th only comes once a year, so BUST OUT!

Preamble

For the establishment of friendships on a firmer and more lasting basis; for the promotion of brotherly love and kind feeling; for the mutual benefit and advancement of the interests of those with whom we sympathize and deem worthy of our regard, We have resolved to form a Fraternity, believing that, thus we can most successfully accomplish our object.

Golfers Break Even in Rugged Week

by Marty Hendin

Following perhaps the toughest week of competition any UMSL team has ever faced, the UMSL golf team is looking ahead to the NAIA district playoffs. The Rivermen took their 6-3-1 record into matches against SIU-Carbondale Tuesday, St. Louis U. and Washington U. Wednesday, and St. Louis U. and Bradley Friday.

Coach Larry Berres has received word that the District Sixteen Independent Playoffs will be held May 13 and 14 at Columbia. It will be an open playoff with all independent teams invited to enter the 36 hole event with 18 holes played each day. Teams who will enter are UMSL, Rockhurst, Missouri Southern, Evangel and Missouri Western. Rockhurst has won the independent playoff the past two years over UMSL and has then lost to Drury. The winner of the independent playoff will face the MCAU winner, probably Drury, May 18 at Columbia for the right to compete in the national tournament June 9-12 at Liberty, Missouri.

The Rivermen golfers won, lost and tied in their three matches last week. Thursday they faced St. Louis University and Washington U. in a Billiken home match at Forest Hills Country Club. The Bills preferred to decide the match on the basis of strokes rather than points, and they came out on top with 387 as the Rivermen and Bears tied with 393. Each team used six players and counted the low five. St. Louis's Tim Crowley was low for the day with a 70. The Bears' low man was Bill Flori with a 77. UMSL scores were Tom O'Hare 73, Ron Brewer 75, Doug Solliday 78, Doug Lee 83 and Tom Cradick 84.

Principia College 13-5. Tom O'Hare and Ron Brewer again led the way for UMSL with 77 and 78 respectively. Doug Solliday and newcomer Gary Walshauser also won their matches, but Doug Lee and Tom Cradick lost to their Indian opponents.

SIU Postponed

Tuesday's scheduled baseball game with SIU-Edwardsville was postponed due to wet grounds at Ferguson's Forestwood Park. Riverman Coach Arnold Copeland announced that the game has been rescheduled for May 8, 3:30 p.m., at the same site.

A previously rescheduled game with Concordia Seminary will be played this afternoon at 3:30 at the Preacher's home field.

Riverman of the Week

Bill Haberberger

For his clutch hitting in the last ten days, Bill Haberberger has been selected Riverman of the Week. Bill has knocked in the tying or winning run in three ball games this season and is currently batting .410, seven points below the team leader, Brad Beckwith.

The sophomore catcher-outfielder is a line drive hitter as can be seen by the fact that all of Haberberger's 16 hits this season have been singles. The versatile Haberberger has been one of the key players in the Red and Gold's 10-2-1 success to date.

Intramural Competition

While men's IM basketball and men's and women's volleyball are currently winding up their seasons, rosters are now being accepted in the athletic office for UMSL's most popular IM sport, co-ed volleyball. The deadline for submitting rosters is Monday, April 27, and play begins May 5.

Two eight-team leagues are currently participating in the men's intramural basketball competition. These include fraternities, two teams of Newmanites, and such outstanding athletic aggregations as the Poplar Bluff Midget, Nate and the Lay-ups, Soupy and the Suds, the Gulas, River Rats, P.F. Flyers and a team of faculty members.

As the teams began their competition Monday, gold league leaders were the Newman River Rats with a 2-0 mark and the Tekes and Faculty both 1-0. P.F. Flyers at 3-0 and Delta Sigma Pi, 2-0, are the class of the red league. The Gulas, with an 0-2 record have actually won both their games by combined scores of 128-42 but their results do not count due to the fact that some of their players have received JV letters. The red and gold league winners will play their championship game Wednesday May 20.

Women's volleyball is dominated by the Newmanites and Delta Zeta Demons with records of 5-0 and 4-0 respectively. They met Tuesday to determine the league championship.

Members of the men's volleyball league will play their championship game Tuesday April 28. Red league leaders are the Teenyboppers (basketball team), 3-0, followed by the Gulas at 2-1. Gold leaguers on top are the Newman Lyons at 2-0 and Sigma Pi 1-0.

NCAA Admission Key to Progress

by Marty Hendin
Associate Sports Editor

Following is the first of a two part series outlining UMSL's immediate athletic prospects.

In a Current interview last week, UMSL Athletic Director Chuck Smith announced that the Student-Faculty Committee has voted that UMSL drop its NAIA membership in favor of the NCAA. UMSL's next steps are a vote on the idea by the Faculty Senate, a vote by the Board of Curators and application for membership before May 15. If the Senate and Board approve the organizational switch, the 47 schools in NCAA District Five will vote on the UMSL application. If 60% approve, the Rivermen will be eligible for NCAA national competition in all sports beginning September 1, 1970.

If accepted by the NCAA, UMSL will join the 29 college division teams in District Five. These include the five state colleges (Northeast, Northwest, Central, Southeast and Southwest Missouri State), UM-Rolla, Washington U., and William Jewell. The 18 university division teams in the district include Missouri Valley Conference members St. Louis University, Bradley, Cincinnati, Drake, Louisville, North Texas State, Tulsa, and Wichita; and Big Eight teams, UM-Columbia, Colorado, Iowa State, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State.

The NCAA membership is just one step in the planned expansion of UMSL athletics. Included is expansion in number of sports, possible conference affiliation, financial aid for athletes, and scheduling.

Smith said that as soon as the multi-purpose building is opened in the Fall of 1971, UMSL hopes to add wrestling, swimming and track to its intercollegiate sports calendar. Long-range additions include volleyball and gymnastics.

The proposed urban conference, including teams such as UWM, UICC, LSUNO and others seems to have fallen through due to various factors, Smith said. Included among these is the fact that the coaches of UWM and LSUNO refused to talk to Smith when he attempted to schedule them for next year. In Smith's view, UMSL should either enter a good conference or stay independent.

With increased NCAA grants at their disposal, the UMSL athletic department can offer more aid to potential athletes and thus attract better players. As of now, Smith can offer an athletic scholarship aid on one of three levels. The top level includes incidental and student union fees, books and one meal per day, and levels one and two are lesser variations. This is opposed to the top NCAA grant of full tuition and fees, room and board, books and $15 per month laundry allowance. In UMSL's sports history, basketball players have been the only athletes to receive financial aid.

be commended for its appreciation of little appreciated talent, the fans for supporting teams with few "name" players and the athletes themselves, for playing at 100% of their capacity simply because they love sport, they love competition. This is the true meaning of athletics, big business aside, and UMSL is its new found home.

11 Run Record

Following is the play-by-play of UMSL's eighth inning against Principia in which the Rivermen scored a record eleven runs.

Muich walked; Naucke sacrificed; Haberberger singled scoring Muich; Przada ran for Haberberger; Hibbeler singled; Finke batted for Krull and walked loading the bases; Zweifel walked forcing in a run; Chik singled scoring Hibbeler and Finke; Skinner walked loading the bases; Beckwith singled scoring Zweifel and Chik; Muich walked; Naucke was hit by a pitch scoring Skinner; Przada doubled scoring Beckwith, Muich and Naucke; Hibbeler doubled scoring Przada; Finke hit into a double play.

Out of Bounds

with Mike Olds
Current Sports Editor

Those who follow college athletics today realize that we are living through a period in which the affluent athlete rules the roost. With top notch athletes being plied by offers of full tuitions, books, incidental fees, room and board, food and even the "loan" of the coach's car occasionally, the richer, more prestigious universities have been able to whisk the cream of high school or J.C. athletes right from the top.

Why, then, does UMSL so consistently outplay the so-called "name" schools? The top Riverman scholarship to date has not even included tuition, and Coach Smith still drives his own car. UMSL Athletic Director Chuck Smith himself best summed up the reason when he said, in a recent interview, that an UMSL athlete is a "hungry athlete."

In no sport, at no athletic level, can the Rivermen compete with the likes of, say, St. Louis U. or other large universities for the favor of ballplayers. UMSL so far has had to settle for the players who have received little or no attention from the richer schools; supposedly, then, the lesser athletes. Then it has had to fight to keep them.

This situation can best be seen by looking at the Riverman soccer team. Obviously, St. Louis, as the hotbed of soccer in the United States, receives tremendous attention from college recruiters, including such far away institutions as the University of Maine. Kansas City recruits heavily here, as the roster of Rockhurst College would indicate. Offering local players something just short of their weight in gold, out of town schools have built powerful teams. The Hawks, in particular, have developed a tremendous team, with a long, respected heritage. UMSL Coach Don Dallas, on the other hand, can offer only the opportunity to play for the red and gold, weight not being a factor. Yet, in their two meetings, UMSL has twice emerged victorious, by 3-1 and 3-0 margins, once on the Hawks' home field.

Their record, an underdog's delight, which is shared by all UMSL teams, is a tribute both to the skill of Coach Dallas and the guts of his players. Playing in competition way over their heads, on paper, Dallas' teams have chalked up an impressive 9-3-2 slate over two seasons. Their efforts have been rewarded by total indifference on the part of the NAIA when playoff time rolls around. They have, in spite of their fine records, been ignored by the District gods-in-residence, but since ignorance seems to be a trademark of the NAIA, the players have learned to live with it.

The little heralded, and also "underpaid," baseball team has also been impressive since its inception. Finishing 9-11 in 1969, they already own a commanding 10-2-1 record in 1970. The cross country, golf and tennis teams all claim either commanding won-lost records or hold great promise for the future. Meanwhile, the basketball team continues to roll on, building up an impressive record on the way, starting players who were bench warmers in junior college or high school and beating the impressive competition Coach Smith has scheduled.

Coach Smith calls it "hunger", a better word would be guts or pride. UMSL players are consistently outclassed on paper, but seldom on the field or court. The UMSL athletic department is to

Baseball Runs Record to 10-2-1

Spurred on by an 11 run single inning outburst against Principia, the Rivermen last week rewrote their own record book. Going into the bottom of the eighth at Forestwood Field, UMSL was tied with the Indians from Elsah, Illinois, 4-4. Six hits, eight walks and two Principia errors later the Rivermen owned a 15-4 lead, and their ninth win of the year. Starter Tim Krull earned his third win of the year with the help of Dale Westerholt who finished off the Indians in the ninth, Krull had been lifted for a pinch hitter in that explosive eighth. Tim's record now stands at 3-0 for the season.

That ninth win matched the entire 1969 Rivermen total and started Coach Arnold Copeland dreaming about a possible post-season NAIA playoff berth.

The Coach's dreams were brought one step closer to realization on Thursday when the Rivermen topped Washington U. in a game played at W. U.'s Utz Field. Bill Binsbacher pitched the UMSLans to a 6-1 triumph with the help of reliever Doug Hubert. Binsbacher's season record now stands at 3-1 while Copeland's second season phenoms now own an impressive 10-2-1 slate.

The game was highlighted by a two run homer in the sixth inning by UMSL first baseman Joe Muich. The first year Riverman parked a Ron Barnes inside, belt high, fastball on the far side of the 320 foot right field fence. Barnes had come on in the fourth in relief of starter Fred Falker, the Bear right hander who took the loss. Falker's record at game's end stood at 0-1 while his Hilltop teammates slumped to 5-9.
