Candidates to face press panel

"Meet the Press," an open panel discussion of the candidates and issues involved in next week's student government elections, will be held this Friday, Mar. 29, from 12:30 to 2:30 pm on the J. C. Penney patio. If the weather is bad, the program will be held in the University Center lounge.

A team of Current staff members will question the candidates running for the presidency and the vice-presidency of UMSL's student government on their qualifications and platforms.

Students will then be asked to voice their own opinions and further question the candidates.

The program, first of its kind on the UMSL campus, represents an attempt by the Current to familiarize a greater number of students with UMSL's student government. All students are encouraged to attend.

Candidates must register today

Candidates for student government offices must submit candidacy applications today, Thursday, Mar. 28, at the Information Desk, University Center.

The president and vice-president of the student body and 23 student government representatives will be elected to one-year terms on April 4, 5 and 8.

All UMSL students are eligible to vote and run for office.

New Current mailbox in U. Center lobby

The Current now has a mailbox for letters to the editor and classified ads in the lobby of the University Center.

Letters to the editor are encouraged. Due to space limitations, letters of 200 words or less will be given priority. Letters should be typed, double-spaced, whenever possible.

Classified ad forms are attached to the new mailbox. Classified ads cost 10¢ a word. For larger ads, contact our ad office, Rm. 255 University Center.

Let the candidates know what you think!

MEET THE PRESS

An open panel discussion with all the candidates for the Presidency and the Vice-Presidency of UMSL's student government

A team of Current staff members will question the candidates on the issues as they see them in the upcoming student government elections April 4, 5 and 8. The candidates will then field questions from the audience.
