Organizations And Groups Are Abundant On Campus

University life can be enriched by involvement in a campus or student organization which enables you to meet others with similar interests. To contact any of the recognized student groups categorized below, leave a note in the organization's mailbox, located on the second floor of the University Center. Include your name, address and phone number. Message forms can be found on the bulletin board opposite the boxes. Or, you may contact the Office of Student Activities at 553-5536.

For your convenience, these organizations have been grouped into the following categories: curriculum oriented, fine arts, Greek letter (fraternities and sororities), political, religious, and special interest.

Curriculum Oriented

● The Accounting Club provides an exposure to various career opportunities in the field of accounting as well as an opportunity for students and accounting faculty to become better acquainted.

Past activities have included speakers from accounting firms and specialists, and an end-of-the-semester party.

● Beta Alpha Psi is a fraternity of accounting majors which sponsors speaker meetings, seminars with accounting firms and industry, senior receptions, and business meetings. Service projects have included blood drives, Old Newsboys' Day, and a tax service.

● The Biology Club encourages investigation in the life sciences through field trips, meetings, seminars and social activities.

Projects have included assisting the Biology Department in some of their projects.

● Delta Sigma Pi is a coed business fraternity which has sponsored speakers from major corporations for meetings and seminars, and performs civic functions as well.

Members must have at least a sophomore standing and a GPA of 2.2 or better.

● Kappa Delta Pi, Mu Iota Chapter is an honor society in education, which concentrates basically on themes and issues related to professional education. The society sponsors panel discussions and socials, and participates in several service activities.

The Marketing Club brings in monthly speakers to discuss marketing principles in an effort to provide a bridge between marketing theory and practice.

The club also provides social opportunities which have included a spring picnic and both Steamers and Blues Hockey games.

● The Mathematics Club offers students a chance to meet other interested students and faculty interested in mathematics as well as insights into the various opportunities in the field of mathematics.

In recent years the club has sponsored such activities as a series of films, a computer programming contest, a tour of McDonnell Douglas' Information Systems

UM-St. Louis: The Early Days

The 128-acre parcel of land on which UM-St. Louis sits began as the old Bellerive Country Club, a playground for its affluent members.

They swam in the lake, walked their golf links, and paraded through their immaculate clubhouse during summer dances. The course itself was formidable enough to use in deciding two Western Amateur Open golf championships — one in 1949 and the other in 1953.

However, desiring to escape the spreading urban sprawl of St. Louis county, the membership of the club moved their facility to its present location at Ladue and Mason roads.

In April 1958, with difficulties in selling the old land mounting because of Bellerive city ordinances, the land was offered to Normandy School District.

The school district was eager to purchase the land and buildings, for it meant that an elementary school and a community college could be added to the struggle of keeping up with the explosion of a student population within their district.

As the country club began its withdrawal, the Normandy educators surveyed their needs and goals. Discovering a substantial interest among the juniors and seniors at Normandy and other high schools, the district established the University of Missouri-Normandy Residence Center. UM agreed to pay the faculty and provide a library; the school district would furnish an administrator and supplement supplies and maintenance.

The first classes were held at the fledgling campus on September 14, 1960. Four full-time faculty members taught 215 freshman students. C.E. Potter was installed as the first administrator, and hired eight part-time instructors to boost instructional capability.

One of the Normandy educators who helped form the university was Ward E. Barnes (Barnes Education Library). Barnes, a St. Louis educator for over 35 years, helped get the original bond issue passed.

During those early years, Barnes was a driving force behind the building of the enrollment and curriculum of the university.

UM President Elmer Ellis strongly desired that the University of Missouri expand the facility to a four-year branch of the UM system.

Barnes and Ellis worked closely to change that dream into reality. Barnes recalled getting a phone call from Ellis one Saturday morning: "Ward," he said, "Do you really think we can get 100 students to enroll in that program you're setting up?" Barnes responded with enthusiasm.

At that point, the campus had 400 students. Discussion of acquiring the property from Normandy began.

The school district was initially offered $60,000 for the Residence Center but a dispute over the bidding process necessary to transfer the land to the state stalled the deal.

After considerable lobbying by Ellis, Barnes, the Board of Curators, Governor John Dalton and support of the St. Louis press, the state legislature passed bills authorizing the sale on April 13, 1963.

The Residence Center had charged student $15 per credit hour, with a $50 down payment required. Students outside the Normandy School District were charged an

by Janice Gregory reporter

Every year an influx of students pour into the UM-St. Louis campus from different areas of the country, hoping to attain skills that will enable them to secure adequate employment.

Over the years, college costs have skyrocketed. At private colleges, total costs of $15,000 per year are not unheard of. While public institutions are somewhat cheaper, they are no free ride either.

Here at UM-St. Louis, an unmarried student living alone should expect to pay at least $8,715.20 for a nine-month stint, excluding summer. Dependent students rest easier, shelling out $4,992.20 for the same period. A married couple (only one going to school) must cough up $11,357.60.

But before one can reach the ultimate goal of graduation, one must complete two initial steps before obtaining that goal: receiving academic advisement and financial aid assistance.

Located in Woods 209, the financial aid office supplies forms, like the ACT Family Financial Statement packet and assists students in filling them out. It also has access to information about other sources of financial aid available to students that they may not be aware of.

Mark Nugent, Director of Financial Aid, states that students should apply as early as possible. "There's so much to do for the process," Nugent said. "If students apply early, there's plenty of time to straighten out problems that may occur. It is best to apply each year during February or March."

For new students to UM-St. Louis, the financial aid process may be filled with confusion. And Nugent offers some helpful hints for a smooth financial aid transition.

"Apply as early as possible," Nugent said. "Always come by the office to see how the financial aid process is going."

The Family Financial Statement first asks several questions which will determine whether you are dependent or independent. If you are considered independent, you will then fill out the sections which ask for detailed information about your finances. Most of the information can be copied from your recent Federal tax return. Dependent students must obtain similar information from their parents and have at least one of them sign the form.

The form is then mailed to the "ACT Student Financial Aid Service, P.O. Box 1013, Iowa City, IA 52243." Don't forget the processing

Student Government Association

I am pleased to have the opportunity to welcome you to the beginning of a new academic year at the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

You are experiencing the advantages of higher education in a young, vibrant, and progressive urban university. The unique strengths, attributes and services of UM-St. Louis mark it as an exceptional center of learning and opportunity and as a partner in progress in the broader St. Louis community.

UM-St. Louis is one of four strong universities that make up The University of Missouri System. The institutions within the system — UM-St. Louis, UM-Columbia, UM-Kansas City and UM-Rolla — comprise the state's only public research university. The University of Missouri System, in cooperation with Lincoln University, is also the only source of statewide University Extension services.

Welcome to the University of Missouri-St. Louis and to the University of Missouri System.

As president of the Student Government Association, it is with pleasure that I welcome you to the University of Missouri at St. Louis for the 1989-90 school year. UM-St. Louis is fastly becoming a leading institute for higher learning in the state.

Just a few of the highlights for the academic school year are:

- A new state of the art computer center fully funded by the students is scheduled for operation in October.
- Renovations that will turn the Mark Twain Gymnasium into a first class fitness center.
- Additions made to the Thomas Jefferson Library which will make it one of the finest in the state.
- A Student Government Association that has pledged to deal with the concerns of the students of campus.

I sincerely hope that, as students, you take an active involvement with your UM-St. Louis. The opportunities to excel are limitless; do take advantage of them.

On behalf of the entire Student Government Association, I wish you all good luck with your academic endeavors and don't forget to have fun.

additional $45 The center was not adequately supported financially. It had virtually no laboratory facilities, was overcrowded in the old clubhouse, and its library was stocked with around 900 dusty old books.

However, the students organized their first student government and empowered itself to collect a 15 cent parking fee and the accompanying $1 fine for illegally-parked cars.

By 1962, with enrollment of 564, the students had started the Tiger Cub newspaper and formed chorales and intramural sports programs.

The rowdiness of the students was recorded in an early issue of the Tiger Cub. A strong editorial urging the curtailment of drinking on campus, linked with a ban on card playing in the school cafeteria, attest to some of the issues of the day.

Evidently things were out of hand, because the faculty handed out 388 mid-term deficiencies, 68 percent of the student body. Administrator Potter also prohibited the wearing of bermuda shorts on campus, because they were not consistent with the school's dress code.

The infant university has come a long way since then. We now have a combined total of over 21 buildings on the north and south campuses, with the new addition to the Thomas Jefferson Library scheduled to open this fall. Expansion is being discussed for the engineering program and a new computer center. Mark Twain Athletic Building is slated to undergo major renovation and the Metro Link light rail is scheduled to build stops on both the north and south campuses.

Enrollment is in excess of 12,500 students, and graduate programs are available in most departments.

Evening College Helps Working Student.

The Evening College of the University of Missouri-St. Louis offers 28 degree programs in the Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education and Nursing that conform to the requirements established by the appropriate school or department.

One non-traditional degree program, the Bachelor of General Studies, is also offered. Approximately 200 students complete degrees through the Evening College each year.

Degree offerings include the Bachelor of Arts (with 11 major options), the Bachelor of General Studies, the Bachelor of Science (with 7 major areas), the Bachelor of Science in Administration of Justice, the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, the Bachelor of Science in Education, the Bachelor of Science in Public Administration and the Bachelor of Science in Social Work. Minors and certificates are also offered.

Academic advisors assist new and returning students in the selection of appropriate courses and discuss relevant degree requirements. The Evening College office is open 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Friday and 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturday.

The Evening College Council represents evening students in matters concerning them. The council is responsible for the Koffee Klotch held each Monday and Tuesday evening. In addition, other social events are coordinated by the Council. Evening College students are encouraged to become involved with the council. For information call 553-5875.

In addition to the council, the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda is the honor society for Evening College students. The organization recognizes students with outstanding academic records. The chapter welcomes new members at its annual banquet held each spring. For information call 553-5877.

Evening College Dean Dr. Anita McDonald has appointed Dr. Nancy Shields as Assistant Dean for Student Services of the College. Shields has been serving as the Acting Assistant Dean since December of 1988. Shields has taught undergraduate courses in Statistics, Research Methodology and Social Psychology for the UM-St. Louis Sociology Department.

She also served as Counselor and Director for the Program to Assist At-Risk Students for the Jennings School District.

Shields completed her bachelor's and master's degree in Sociology at UM-St. Louis and a doctoral degree in Sociology from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

year. The state of Missouri awards Missouri Student Grants (MSG's) at about $650 per year.

Graduate students are not eligible for grants, but can still apply for certain scholarships (another form of "gift" money).

Grants will make up a relatively small portion of the typical aid package. Much of the award will consist of loans, which must be paid back. A bank, savings and loan, or credit union makes the loan. Repayment, with interest, is deferred until graduation.

Several types of loans are available. National Direct Student Loans (NDSL's) carry a 5 percent interest rate. A total of $9,000 can be borrowed during ones undergraduate years. Guaranteed Student Loans (GSL's) carry an 8 percent interest burden. The student can borrow up to $17,250 for undergraduate studies. "No need" students can borrow up to $20,000 total through the Supplemental Loan Program (SLP). Last year the interest rate was 10.3 percent.

Parents who find themselves burdened by what the system decides they must pay toward the student's costs can borrow up to a maximum of $20,000 from the Parent's Loan for Undergraduate Students Program (PLUS). Last year's interest rate was 10.3 percent.

Students not receiving aid can get short term loans from the university to cover student fees. This program is limited. Payback is on an installment plan, with 1.5 percent interest per month added.

The system isn't satisfied that you have to take out loans. They want you to work also. You know the work ethic routine. So part of your aid package will be work-study. That means a job on campus, at or near $3.35 per hour. College Work Study Program (CWSP) jobs range from cafeteria work to clerical positions. CWSP students work up to 15 hours per week.

A word to the wise: include work-study time when figuring out how many classes you have time for. Be sure to budget enough time for studying outside of classes.

ACT will send a notice acknowledging receipt of the form to the applicant, followed later by an eligibility report. A similar report will be sent to the Financial Aid office. At this point, make an appointment to see the Financial Aid Officer at the Financial Aid office. You will then be offered an aid package of grants, loans and work-study.

When you are offered grants, that means the money will be given to you; you don't have to pay it back. The most common grant is the Pell Grant. Dependent students can get up to $1,770 per year in Pell Grants; independent students may receive up to $2070. Also available to the very needy is the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant. SEOG awards are $300 to $500 per Foreign citizens can not get aid unless they possess an Alien Registration card. Bring it with you to the Financial Aid office.

Veterans should not overlook the Veteran's Benefits they have earned by their military service.

You might even be able to create your own scholarship. Just convince your employer that an investment in your education would benefit your company.

Whatever aid you receive, keep in mind that regulations require that certain academic standards be maintained by recipients. Specific performance requirements depend upon the student's class level and academic classification. All aid students must complete and pass 50 percent of their classes each semester.

If you drop out of, or you are dismissed from the university, you must still pay back loans you have received.

Verification of statements made in the application process may be required, to prove income, expenses, dependency status, or residency status. Cheaters can be fined up to $10,000 and be sent to prison.

Another helpful tool that students can use on the campus is academic advising, located in Lucas 305. The office assists students that are undecided upon majors and holds freshman orientation.

"If a student has a problem with courses or wants to add a course, we show them how to add or drop the course," Jeannette Ervin said. Ervin is an academic advisor for freshmen, seniors and transfer students.

Ervin adds that students who fail to seek academic advisement may incur terrible consequences.

"Students register for the wrong courses and push their graduation dates back. Students don't know when to apply for graduation," she said.

Ervin stated that it would be helpful to students to pre-register for courses and establish good relationships with the advisers.

Numerous scholarships are available to selected individuals from a variety of sources. Each of these must be applied for by the student. They are awarded for athletic ability, intellectual prowess, artistic talent, physical or mental disability, for being "Black non-Hispanic, Asian or Pacific Islander, Hispanic American Indian, or Alaskan native," for being female, or for any other qualification the scholarship donor may choose.

By the way, you won't get any aid until you've applied for admission to the university; and if you have gone to college elsewhere, you must have financial aid transcripts sent to the Financial Aid office from all previous post-secondary schools, even if you didn't get aid there.

● The National Optometric Student Association provides service and education to the general public. The association sponsors speakers, social events, screenings, study guides, convention travel and national participation in such groups as the Optometric Extension Program.

Social activities have included golf tournaments, parties and float trips.

Eligibility requires enrollment in the Optometric Program.

● Horizons meets the needs of UMSL students who might feel more comfortable discussing personal, academic, and/or career concerns with a fellow student who has been trained to help.

Undergraduates who have completed Psychology 60 and 61 utilize skills taught in those courses for counseling individuals with academic, family, relationship or general concerns, and also conduct workshops on career exploration, interview and resume skills, academic and time management, as well as stress management. The Horizons office is located in the Counseling Service office, 427 SSB. The hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday, Thursday and Friday, and 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

● The Physics Club supplies exposure to the field of physics through presentations, speakers, and field trips, and seeks to offer information from representatives of different areas in industry to which a career in physics would apply.

● Pi Sigma Epsilon is a national professional fraternity in marketing, sales management and selling which provides a link between collegians and the professional world. Activities have included the application of classroom theory to different marketing, selling and community service projects, and also meeting with business leaders as well as attending conventions.

● The Psychology Organization gives students a chance to interact with faculty, administrative staff, and psychology students in activities which include programs, workshops, speakers and field trips.

● Rho Nu promotes professional, social, and legislative activities of unique concern to the nursing student. It strives to be the voice of the nursing student body in university affairs.

Activities have included a float trip, a brunch, Greek Week, a food drive, the Health Fair and the Blood Drive.

All registered nurses are eligible for membership.

● Student Missouri State Teachers Association supports leadership training, research efforts, guest speakers, and publications.

A yearly event is travel to participate in the delegate assembly.

● Student National Education Association supplements the School of Education's curriculum by providing services and activities of a pre-professional nature.

Events have included workshops, holiday luncheons, dinners and service activities. The association is open to education majors and provides liability insurance to its members during student teaching.

● Other curriculum oriented groups include the Administration of Justice Honor Society, the Pre-Optometry Club, the Students for the Advancement of Sociology, and Volunteer Optometric Services to Humanity.

Fine Arts

● Forensics and Debate Club prepares students for inter-collegiate tournaments at major colleges and universities throughout the country. The team participates in 10 individual speaking events.

Last year the squad finished with an overall record of 155-81 and finished 16th nationally among the 322 schools belonging to the inter-collegiate Cross Examination Debate Association.

The Squad will hold organizational meetings September 3 and 11 at 1:30 p.m. in room 216 Lucas Hall.

● Jazz Ensemble provides UMSL students with the opportunity to perform and learn jazz music. Auditions are held for any currently enrolled UMSL students. They consist of: a prepared selection, sightreading, and optional improvisation.

● KWMU Student Staff operates the radio station at specified times. Under an elected student management, they offer broadcast training on-the-air, for UMSL students who qualify.

Experience is offered in writing, announcing, recording, promotions, and engineering.

Interested UMSL students should complete a Student Staff application form.

● Student Literary Magazine offers UMSL students a place to have their literary/artistic works published. They plan to publish a magazine in the fall, and another in the spring semester, as well as conduct a writers' workshop.

Especially helpful would be people who have had experience in typesetting, layout, editing, business, or word processing.

● Music Educators National Conference provides opportunities for professional development of college students of music education, through participation in state, division and national meetings.

On-campus activities include workshops, conventions, speakers, and a party.

● Opera Workshop offers opportunities to participate in opera production. All operas are done in English, and the cast and crew is made up of UMSL students.

Past shows have included The Magic Flute, The Marriage of Figaro, La Boheme, and La Traviata.

Many of our singers have gone on to win Metropolitan Opera auditions, and have sung with Opera Theatre of St. Louis.

● Symphonic Band provides the opportunity for experience in all types and styles of concert music. The group plays regular formal concerts on campus, pops concerts both on and off campus, and selected university events.

The band offers academic credit toward degree elective requirements.

● University Players offers students a variety of opportunities for participation in such activities as a playwrights' workshop, faculty/student cast parties, workshops for elementary schools, and the production of about three plays a semester.

Membership in the Players is open to anyone interested in working in theatre.

● University Singers offers such activities as St. Louis area performances, group social events, and annual concert tours.

Auditions are held in the Music Building and can be arranged by calling 553-5980.

● Other fine arts organizations include the Swingshift/Madrigal Ensemble.

Greek Letter

Greek life concentrates on close friendships, high scholastic ideals, personal development, and community service. Each year the campus fraternities and sororities hold dances, bashes, informal gatherings, scholarship workshops, road trips, contests for charity, parents appreciation dinners, and alumni dinners.

In the past the community service activities have included participation in the K-SHE Kite Fly, March of Dimes Phon-a-thon, KWMU Walkathon, Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, and the Judevine Center's Festival of Trees. In addition, many Greeks are active in other campus organizations as well.

Sororities

There are three National Panhellenic Conference sororities on campus. Formal rush for all groups is held starting August 24 in the University Center. More information can be obtained from the Office of Student Activities, 250 University Center, 553-5536.

● Alpha Xi Delta was the first national sorority on campus, founded locally in 1968 and nationally in 1893. Colors are light blue, dark blue and gold. The badge of membership is the quill; the flower is the pink Killarney rose and the mascot is the teddy bear.

● Delta Zeta was founded nationally in 1902. Colors are old rose and green. The badge is the Roman lamp; the flower is the Killarney rose and the mascot is the turtle.

● Zeta Tau Alpha, or Zetas, were founded nationally in 1898. Colors are steel grey and turquoise blue. The badge is a shield of black superimposed on a shield of gold; the flower is the white violet and the mascot is the ladybug.

Taste of International Flavor Here at UMSL

The Center for International Studies supports faculty research on international and cross-cultural studies and provides programs and services for UMSL students, faculty, and the St. Louis community.

Certificate Programs in International Studies - The Center administers, for the College of Arts and Sciences, the undergraduate certificates in East Asian studies, European studies, international studies, and Latin American studies.

These certificates, which combine course offerings from different departments, enable students to earn the equivalent of a minor in addition to their major.

Certificates earned are noted on a student's transcript. Lists of requirements and application forms are available in the Center.

Study Abroad Office - The Center has information on study abroad and student exchange programs. A wide range of programs are available including the UMSL student exchange programs and programs offered by other institutions. Currently, UMSL has the following exchange programs:

West Germany:
University of Frankfurt
University of Stuttgart
People's Republic of China:
Anhui University
Lanzhou University
Republic of China:
National Taiwan Normal University
Tamkang University
Kaohsiung Teachers College
United Kingdom:
University of Lancaster

For most of these exchange programs UMSL students pay regular UMSL fees plus transportation and living expenses.

Missouri London Program - The MLP offers a variety of undergraduate courses during the fall and winter semesters, and during the summer. The program is sponsored by a group of Missouri universities including UMSL. Courses are taught by faculty members of the participating Missouri universities and are held at the MLP facility near Hyde Park and Kensington Gardens. Brochures are available in the Center.

International Studies Career Cluster - The College of Arts and Sciences and the center organized the international studies career cluster to bring together students and faculty who share an interest in international affairs and careers. Students and faculty meet about once a month for some program/social event. Contact the Center if you wish to be put on the mailing list.

Scholarships and Awards - The Center awards a number of James S. McDonnell Scholarships each year to recognize meritorious students of international and cross-cultural studies. In addition, the Center conducts the James S. McDonnell Essay competition for student essays on international affairs. Contact the Center for additional information.

International Seminar Series - Each year the Center presents a number of guest speakers on matters of interest in international studies and foreign affairs. Seminars, which are open to all who are interested, are listed in the Current and announcements are posted on campus bulletin boards.

The Center for International Studies is located in Room 366 Social Science and Business Bldg. For more information, call 553-5753.

FOREIGN VISITOR: Ge Qu Yun, an expert on disarmament, came to the campus in 1988 to promote cultural exchange between the United States and China.

Every day, thousands of college students ready, aim and fire their fingers down their throats to make themselves sick. It's called purging, and while it may seem like the easy way to look healthy, it's actually a sure way to become very ill.

Left unchecked, bulimia can cause rotten teeth, dehydration, a ruptured stomach or esophagus, and kidney failure. In its latter stages, it can cause the heart to skip beats, until one day it skips for good. But there is hope.

Through support group counseling, the professionals at St. John's Mercy Medical Center can help bulimia and anorexia victims find relief from their guilt, depression, and years of loneliness. They can show them how to turn food into nourishment instead of an obsession, and how to start feeling good about themselves again.

At 9 a.m. on the third Saturday of every month, St. John's holds free meetings to discuss eating disorders and their symptoms. To find out more about the meetings, just call 1-800-22ABTEC, or 569-6898 in Missouri.

Everyone is welcome and there are no questions asked, because the people there know first hand how devastating bulimia and anorexia can be. And they won't be pointing fingers at anyone.

Special Groups Made For Students Special Reasons

There are a variety of services available for Disabled Students on the UM-St. Louis campus.

Among these are: special parking permits, elevator keys for certain buildings, a special equipment room in the library where various pieces of adaptive equipment are stored and available for student use, electric wheelchair storage and recharging locations on campus, plus assistance in finding tutors, notetakers, readers for the blind and certified interpreters for the deaf.

For more information or campus accessibility tours, visit the office in 301 Woods Hall or call 553-5211.

The Veteran's Affairs Office offers assistance to veterans in making the transition from military to student life as easy as possible.

A staff of peer counselors, male and female, are available to help fellow veterans deal with school, jobs, housing, drugs, or other problems they may encounter. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Thursday and Friday, and 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. For more information call 553-5315 or stop by 346 Woods Hall.

The UM-St. Louis Women's Center is an information and resource center for women on campus. Information and referral services are offered and include lists of community services offered to women and women professionals in the St. Louis area.

Methods of accessing women's organizations and networks are also provided. The Center also offers short-term counseling for any student who feels she needs assistance. All conversations with staff members are kept confidential.

The Center offers a place to relax, have coffee and share experiences with other students and is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Evening Hours vary with each semester, so call 553-5380 for schedule details and location of the Center.

The Wellness Network is designed to help students, faculty and staff make intelligent health decisions which help them lead happier and healthier lives. There are several programs included in the network; among them are the Optometry Clinic (152 Marillac Hall, 553-5131) that provides the UM-St. Louis community with vision care, the Counseling Service (427 SSB, 553-5711) which offers free professional assistance to students, faculty and staff with personal, social, educational or career concerns, the Athletics/Intramurals (225 & 203 Mark Twain, 553-5641 and 553-5125) offers open recreation and organized intramural activities and the Community Psychological Service (231 Stadler Hall, 553-5824) which provides psychological services on an out-patient basis.

Also included in the Wellness Network are Student Health Service (127 Woods Hall, 553-5671) which provides basic health screening and referral services for health-related matters, the School of Nursing (116 or 119 South Campus Classroom Building, 553-6067) which offers a variety of health screening, education teaching, counseling and information/referral services to UM-St. Louis students, faculty and staff, and the ROTC Program (44 BMOB, 553-5176) which prepares college men and women for appointments as second lieutenants in the U.S. Army either reserve or active.

The Center for Academic Development, located in 506 Tower, is an academic support program for UM-St. Louis students who may require some assistance in their studies. It includes the Special Service Unit with a Summer Challenge session, a tutorial lab and advisers. The Mathematical Unit gives special help in mathematics, and the Communication Unit offers a Reading and Writing Lab, with tutorial assistance in writing skills. For more information call 553-5194.

The Child Development Center provides year-round daycare/preschool services for children from six months to five years. Both full and part-time programs are available.

The Center services UM-St. Louis students, faculty and staff and community residents. Operating hours are Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. For more information call 553-5658, or stop by the Center during operating hours.

Manuscripts Chronicles History

The Western Historical Manuscript Collection in the Thomas Jefferson Library documents St. Louis' rich cultural heritage, a heritage waiting for the research efforts of enterprising students. The collection provides primary source material—organizational records, personal papers, oral history interviews, audio and video tapes—to students in history, English, political science, art and other disciplines. In addition to making these research materials available, the WHMC staff is on hand to suggest paper topics and possible areas of study.

The collections reflect important and often overlooked dimensions of local history. For instance, one of the country's first anti-nuclear lobbying groups, the Committee for Nuclear Information, began here, as did one of the first correctional halfway houses, the Dismas House. The Democratic Party first adopted a woman's suffrage plank at its 1916 convention in St. Louis. An emergency convention of the Socialist Party of America the following year voted to oppose U.S. involvement in World War I.

During the Depression, the St. Louis riverfront became the site of the country's largest Hooverville shantytown. A local social service agency called the Bureau for Men served as a national model for the establishment of soup kitchens and cafeterias to help feed the unemployed in the '30s. Evicted sharecroppers in Southeast Missouri organized a sit-down strike in 1939;

Where did the ducks on Bugg Lake go in the winter? Where did Bugg Lake go? Students have found the answers to these and other questions at the University Archives located on the second level (southwest stairwell) of the T.J. Library.

Among other things, the Archives houses publications, reports, studies, and office files created at UM-St. Louis. Collections include fully indexed back issues of the Current (dating from 1960, when it was called the Tiger Cub), yearbooks, student directories, and photographs of campus events.

If you are doing research for a paper, or just have a question about UM-St. Louis, the University Archives is open from 8 a.m.—5 p.m. (and until 9 p.m. on Tuesdays). Reference service is available. What's a "Bugg" anyway?

GROUPS

Fraternities

Fraternity rush for men is conducted differently from that of the sororities. Interested men should contact each fraternity directly for more information.

● PI Kappa Alpha, Zeta Phi chapter, established itself on campus in 1969. The Pikes sponsor a pumpkin pie eating contest each Thanksgiving with benefits going to the St. Vincent's Orphanage in Normandy and they also sponsor a spring break trip to Florida. Visit the fraternity house at 8826 Natural Bridge for more information.

● Sigma Pi was the first men's national fraternity on campus, founded in 1969. In the past, Sigma Pi held the Greek Week champion spot for fourteen years in a row. Visit the fraternity house at 8645 Natural Bridge for more information.

● Sigma Tau Gamma was founded in 1920. Scholastic achievement, sports and community service are the primary goals of this organization, but also feel that social activities are fundamental to the accomplishment of these goals. For more information, visit the fraternity house on Natural Bridge Road.

● Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Omicron Omicron chapter celebrated its twelfth year on campus last year and are members of the fraternity with the most chapters in the country. Tau Kappa Epsilon is also an international fraternity. One yearly event includes a keg roll with benefits going to St. Jude's Children's Hospital. Contact the Student Activities Office at 553-5536 for more information.

Other Greek Letter organizations on campus include Alpha Sigma

Lambda, Kappa Alpha Psi, and Pi Sigma Epsilon.

Religious Organizations

● Baptist Student Union gives students opportunities for Christian growth and outreach or ministry to others. Activities have included weekly Bible studies, many conference trips throughout the United States, retreats, hayrides, parties and activities and camping trips for inner city children.

● Bible Study meets informally once a week in the University Center for weekly Bible study, going through a given book one chapter at a time. In addition the group sponsors Christian concerts and occasional films.

● Fellowship of Christian Athletes is a group of student athletes and those interested in athletics, who gather for Christian fellowship around their common bonds of sports and Jesus Christ.

● Jewish Student Union offers a Jewish group for students on campus through various get-togethers especially during Jewish events. They have had several informational booths in the University Center throughout the academic year so that more students and staff can be aware of this organization.

● Newman House seeks to share a common Christian brotherhood. They hold regular retreats, masses, and prayer days, and take part in social and service activities. The group has sponsored trips, dinners, intermurals, dances and guest speakers.

They have also volunteered at a soup kitchen, written letters to Congress about social issues, have studied social issues such as poverty and nuclear proliferation, and have worked at the Catholic Worker House monthly. All students are welcome at 8200 Natural Bridge every class day.

● The Wesley Foundation of the University of Missouri-St. Louis is the campus ministry sponsored by four denominations: The Presbyterian Church (USA), the United Church of Christ, the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and the United Methodist Church. The office is at Normandy United Methodist Church, 8000 Natural Bridge Road. The telephone number is 385-3000.

Programs this year include cooperative events with other campus ministries both at UM-St. Louis and in the metropolitan area. The Wesley Foundation sponsors Bible studies, fellowship events, worship experiences and service projects. The newsletter "Gateway Connections" is sent free to interested persons. Contact Roger N. Jespersen at 385-3000.

Political Organizations

● The Fighting Spiritis a student political party which offers valuable political experience by sponsoring and electing a slate of candidates to Student Government and to the Senate.

Numerous party members have won Student Affairs Awards and have been recognized in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

● UM-St. Louis Student Government provides student participation in the general administration and government of the university by working with faculty and administration as elected representatives of the student body.

The Student Government can be contacted in room 262 of the University Center from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. weekdays, or by calling 553-5105.

● Political Science Academy seeks to develop political interest

A PLACE TO GO: The International House, 7946 Natural Bridge Road, is open to students of all nations.

International House Is Open To All

The International House, located at 7946 Natural Bridge Road, is open to American and international students from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday thru Friday. It is a place where, according to Administrator for Special Students Services Marilyn Ditto, students can relax and study in an informal atmosphere.

"We're encouraging American students to visit the house," Ditto said. "They can help the international students with communication and language and learn about the cultural differences on an informal basis."

"It is a non-political, open atmosphere," she said. "It is set up like a house, with a living room and a kitchen, so the students can feel more comfortable."

According to Ditto, there are now 310 international students enrolled at UM-St. Louis, including students from China, Malaysia, Korea and Nigeria. Before 1987, she said, there had always been "around 200" international students enrolled in the university.

"Before we got the house, we were located in an itty-bitty little room - 302 SSB," Ditto said. "We had to fight a great deal to get the house, but now it is greatly utilized by the students."

Ditto said that, in addition to being a place for students to relax and study, the house is also used for luncheons, lectures, workshops and receptions.

The house is staffed by three students, each working about 15 hours per week, and is funded through the Office of Student Affairs.

It is a five-room house which includes a kitchen, an office, a ping-pong table in the basement and a private meditation room.

"It is kind of off the beaten path," Ditto said. "But students can feel comfortable there."

on campus through such service projects as sponsoring a day of concern, sponsoring speakers, meetings and assisting with petitions.

Special Interest Groups

● Big Mountain Support Group is dedicated to stopping the forced relocation of nearly 10,000 Native Americans in Big Mountain, Arizona. The group works with the St. Louis support group to repeal P.L. 93-531.

The group also supplies food, clothing and medical aid to the people of Big Mountain.

● Associated Black Collegians help black students adjust and feel comfortable. It is designed to academically, politically and culturally enrich black students at UM-St. Louis. ABC provides informative speakers and educational entertainment and sponsors Black History Month on campus.

● The Disabled Student Union endeavors to promote understanding, sensitivity and accessibility for students with disabling conditions. The DSU promotes ideas that will help all disabled students on campus.

Each spring, the DSU sponsors Disability Awareness Week to increase awareness and understanding of needs of all disabled persons. Activities include disability simulations and a cross-campus wheelchair marathon. For more information, contact the DSU Coordinator at 553-5211.

● The International Students Organization promotes international understanding and cultural exchange for UM-St. Louis students. They also assist in the acclimation of new international students to the campus and city of St. Louis.

The International Students Organization sponsors International Week each fall semester for the entire campus. Featured activities include dances from many countries, cultural artifact displays, music and more.

All students are welcome to join, both American and International.

Attention Evening Students Of UM-St. Louis

Early in the twentieth century Albert Einstein formulated his theory of relativity, which dealt with the relationship of energy and matter at a certain critical speed. Late that same century, Susan Keilholz, President of the Evening College Council, found Einstein's theory to have merit. And further, she found that it applied directly to persons attending UM-St. Louis as an evening student. That is, one should apply his or her energy to what matters to them. Join the Evening College Council and we shall discover what matters are relative to the evening student.

New Personnel Of Current Announced

by Kevin Kleine editor

As the editor of the Current I have been searching all summer for a team of editors, reporters, photographers and production assistants. I look forward to what is potentially one of the best years in the history of the Current.

In about a month, we will begin using new typesetting equipment that will improve the technical quality of the Current and speed up the often tedious process of producing a newspaper. Shorter production time will hopefully translate into increased coverage of events and issues concerning students.

Staff consistency has been a problem in the past, but many of last year's editors are returning this year to give us a strong base to build on. I'm pleased to announce the staff for this year. I believe that this group will be able to continue to improve the current and provide the campus with a quality newspaper to act as a voice for student concerns.

M. Faisal Malik returns to run things in the business department. Malik will be responsible for the business affairs of the Current and handle advertising sales as well as serving as the treasurer of our organization.

Cathy Dey will assist Malik in the business office and be in charge of advertising sales, together with the business director, Dey will share the office duties and make up the primary sales staff of the Current.

Shawn Foppe moves into the managing editor slot after serving as news editor last year. Foppe will work closely with me to develop editorial policy and manage the day to day function of the paper. Foppe will also serve as the liaison between the news and business departments.

Tom Kovach will move to news editor after a productive term as last year's sports editor. His critical position is at the heart of the paper and requires him to gather news as well as cultivate sources and assign stories to reporters.

Laura Berardino takes over the features section after serving as the associate editor of that section last year. In addition to her editing duties, Berardino will be the Current's representative in the Student Government Association. New rules that govern student organizations put the Current in a precarious situation of participating in a group we report and express opinions about on a regular basis. This is sort of kin to the New York Times having a representative in congress. Berardino's position in the features section will allow her to meet our obligation to SGA without any conflict of interest since her section does not cover the meetings or actions of SGA. All this and entertaining the campus with movie and book reviews and interesting stories too.

Greg Albers will assist Berardino on the features page with columns, short stories and various feature topics. The features department welcomes any ideas for stories and accepts submissions of short, fiction, and feature topics.

Scott Brandt will continue bringing you the sights from around campus as our photography director. Direct your attention to him if you wish to become a photographer for the Current. A good paper never has too many photographers.

Stephen Hood will keep providing the editorial page with the biting satire of his cartoons. Look for Hood's art in other sections of the paper too, such as his unique view of the campus in this issue.

Mike Van Roo comes to the Current this year as a copy editor. It will be Van Roo's job to make us all look good in print and keep those pesky mistakes out of the newspaper. Mike also fills a position that many capitalistic business majors might enjoy - selling ads on commission. It's a good way to make a few extra bucks and participate in a student organization.

Our reporting staff is a big part of the paper too. Returning reporters like Brian Johnson, Carla Addoh and Paulette Amaro will continue to keep the campus informed. We still need reporters and some of the editing positions are still open. We have room for anyone interested in getting hands-on experience in the publishing business whether you have experience or not. We are here to provide that experience. All you need is the desire to learn and participate. We supply all the rest.

Providing the campus with interesting, hard-hitting reportage is a difficult task. Call us at 553-5174 if you have news that might merit coverage.

Two Garages To Be Open Monday, Garage "D" Ready Next Month

by Tom Kovach news editor

Two of three parking garages at UM-St. Louis that were closed over the summer due to structural problems are slated to open when school begins on August 28, Laurence Schlereth, Vice-Chancellor for Administrative Services, said.

"The structural work is complete [on garages "C" and "N"]," Schlereth said. "What isn't complete is some of the painting of the steel and the electrical lighting."

But Schlereth said that Garage "D," which has been closed since March 3, will not re-open until late September or early October.

According to Schlereth, one of the main reasons behind the delay of "D" is that some on the University of Missouri Board of Curators questioned the action and called for additional research behind the project. But the board found out that a permanent garage would cost more and take longer to construct.

Schlereth then ordered Hercules Construction Company to focus on Garages "C" and "N" because he thought that finishing three parking garages would be impossible. "It became clear to me that three wouldn't be open," he said.

Focusing on those two garages then forced Schlereth to authorize an accelerated work schedule for the construction company to finish the project before school began.

Schlereth has issued a memo to the members of the UM-St. Louis community and it's students. The memo points that since parking garage "D" will not be open until next month, university officials have outlined the following steps:

- The number of shuttle vans between the South Campus parking lots and the North campus will increase. Therefore, students will not have to wait for a van more than five minutes. The shuttle will continue service from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

- Parking violations will not be handed out. Tickets will be assessed when a vehicle is parked in a handicapped spot or a designated slot.

- Campus Police will assist those in need of parking spaces.

"Because parking will be difficult during September, we encourage the use of car-pools and recommend that you allow extra time in coming to the campus," the memo later stated. "We continue to appreciate your tolerance and ask for your patience as we complete the final aspects of the important parking structure repair project."

The first parking garage to be shut down was "D". An engineering consulting firm was hired, and they told Schlereth that the garage was not structurally sound. Costs of repairing one garage range from $800,000 to $1,000,000.

"The report said we should seriously consider closing 'D'. But there is no danger it's going to crash down on the cars parked in the lower level," Schlereth said in early March.

The firm then was asked to investigate any problems in "C" and "N". Although they suggested that they should be closed for repairs, Schlereth said that "the problem wasn't so severe."

Schlereth then decided to close down all three garages after the spring semester.

On May 31, the Board of Curators approved a $2.68 million bond. The revenue bonds will be repaid over the next ten years from parking permits and fines.

KEYNOTE SINGER: Gospel Singer Willie Mae Ford Smith received a honorary degree from UM-St. Louis on Aug. 6. Instead of the traditional keynote speaker, Smith was a "keynote singer."

A Current History Dates Back to 60's

The Current is the campus newspaper of UM-St. Louis and is supported in part by Student Activities fees.

It is published to provide experience for students in newspaper production as well as to inform the campus community of relevant and timely issues.

The newspaper was first printed in 1960 as a Normandy Residence Center publication, called the "Tiger Cub". In 1964, one year following the founding of the present university, the name was changed to the "MIZOU News". The Current was adopted in 1966 and remains the title today.

The Current will publish 30 issues this year with a weekly circulation of approximately 7,500.

The newspaper offers members of the campus community an opportunity to voice their opinions through letters to the editor and also extends free classified advertising to students, faculty and staff.

Business, editorial and staff meetings will be held weekly. All staff meetings will be open to interested students who would like to learn more about the newspaper.

The newspaper subscribes to national college news services and is a member of the Missouri College Newspaper Association. Last year, the Current staff won ten awards at the Association's annual competition.

Having journalism experience is helpful in all fields of study. By showing a potential employer a portfolio of published works, you can take your degree out of the classroom and into the real world. For example, if your major is Political Science you can work as a news reporter on the staff and gain further insight into your studies.

VOLUME 1, NUMBER 1 UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-ST. LOUIS NOVEMBER 12, 1989

Barbara Daeper
Named Editor

Barbara Daeper, a graduate of the University of Missouri-St. Louis, has been named the new editor of the Current. She will be replacing Tom Kovach, who has been the editor since 1987. Daeper is currently a student at the University of Missouri-St. Louis and is a member of the Student Activities Board.

RIVERMAN NEW MASCOT AT UMSL

The mascot of the University of Missouri-St. Louis is the Riverman. The mascot is a stylized figure of a man in a hat and coat, holding a rifle. The mascot is named after the Riverman, a character in the novel "The Riverman" by John Ford. The mascot is the symbol of the University of Missouri-St. Louis and is used in many of the university's publications and events.

UMSL Birth Announcement

The University of Missouri-St. Louis is proud to announce the birth of a new member of the Current family. The new member is a young girl named Sarah, who was born on November 12, 1989. Sarah is the daughter of Tom Kovach and Barbara Daeper. She is a very healthy and happy baby and is expected to be a great addition to the family.

Kennedy Legacy Carries Obligation Says Sorenson

By Michael Sorenson

The Kennedy Legacy Foundation has announced that it will be carrying on the legacy of the Kennedy family. The foundation was established in 1963 and has since then been dedicated to supporting the education and development of young people. The foundation has a long history of success and is proud to continue its work.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS OUTLINED BY NELSON

By Ken Nelson

The University of Missouri-St. Louis has outlined its traffic regulations for the upcoming year. The regulations are designed to ensure the safety of all students, faculty, and staff on campus. The regulations cover a wide range of issues, including parking, driving, and the use of vehicles on campus. The regulations are intended to be fair and reasonable and are expected to be well-received by the campus community.

College credits can be earned through Speech Communication internships and writing and layout positions are available in the news, features and sports departments of the newspaper.

Students interested in working on the newspaper are encouraged to fill out an application form at the Current offices, 1 Blue Metal Office Building, or by calling 553-5174 for information.

Student Patrol Escorts Protect Campus

The Student Patrol Program at the University of Missouri, St. Louis originated in the fall of 1982. At that time it was hoped that it would prove to be a worthwhile project, benefiting both the UM-St. Louis Police Department and the participating students.

Beginning it's eighth year this fall, members of the Student Patrol now act under the direction of Coordinator Ben Hensley.

Student Patrol members assist the UM-St. Louis police in a number of areas including foot patrol of the campus, parking and traffic enforcement and crowd control at special events. The Student Patrol as anticipated, proved to be quite an asset to the University Police. It has enhanced the communications with students, and is an extension of the "eyes and ears" of the organization which in turn provides the means for a more comprehensive and efficient campus patrol.

While on duty, each of the twelve Student Patrol members can be identified by an official cap and jacket to enable students and faculty to more readily observe the police personnel while on patrol. Working in pairs, six to eight patrols work each night, including two on the south campus. Special attention is also given to the new research wing and the construction site by the TJ Library.

The stated purpose of the Student Patrol Program is to act as the eyes and ears for the university police and to assist them in the performance of their duties. The program provides the student with an excellent introduction to law enforcement and related police-citizen cooperative programs. Being a paid position, it also helps to defray the costs of a college education.

Each evening, Monday through Friday, from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m., members conduct a walking patrol of the campus. The patrol provides surveillance in areas which are not easily accessible by car. Patrolling members also make certain that buildings are secure and occupied only by authorized personnel. Should a situation arise in which the assistance of the campus police is required, the patrols are equipped with hand held two way radios, with which they remain in constant contact with the police dispatcher.

One of the most important functions of the Student Patrol is the Escort Service they provide Monday through Friday from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Anyone on campus who does not feel comfortable walking to their vehicle alone is strongly encouraged to use one of the red campus phones to call for an escort. The extension is 5155. The message will be promptly dispatched and two members of the Student Patrol will be summoned to escort the individual to their vehicle.

Letters to the editor, which are welcomed by the editorial staff, should be in no later than Monday at noon prior to the publication date. The newspaper is printed each Thursday while classes are in session.

Writers submitting letters to the editor should address them to Kevin Kleine, 1 Blue Metal Office Building, 8001 Natural Bridge Road. The writer's name and phone number must be included. Students should include their student identification numbers for verification.

No unsigned letters will be published; however, names can be withheld upon request. Responsibility for the content of letters belongs to the individual writer. Letters may be rejected by the editor for any reason. All letters are subject to editing for style and space considerations. No letters can be returned.

News copy and press releases must be submitted by 5 p.m. Fridays prior to publication. All are subject to editing for style and space considerations. The Current does not guarantee publication of news items.

Students, faculty and staff are welcome to submit items for the news section. The editorial staff does request news items to be typed, double-spaced, and written in third person with a name and telephone number to verify any information.

Calendar items should be submitted no later than noon Fridays prior to publication date. The calendar will replace the Around UMSL section. For information on the calendar, contact Jamie Dodson, Tony Laurent or Paulette Amaro at 553-5174. Calendar items should include times, dates, locations and brief descriptions of events. Again, publication of calendar items is not guaranteed.

Classified ads are free to all students, faculty and staff. Classified advertising must be submitted to The Current office by 3 p.m. Friday prior to publication. Classifieds should be 40 words or less. Ad forms can be found in several locations throughout campus or at The Current office. Free ads are not guaranteed space.

Display advertising must be submitted by 5 p.m. Mondays prior to publication. On-campus and off-campus rates vary. Advertisers are requested to make space reservations as early as possible to allow the business staff to plan the newspaper. For more information on advertising, contact 553-5175, or write to The Current office.

Communication Key To Expanding Library

by Tom Kovach news editor

While hammers are pounding and drills are still being heard, expansion of the Thomas Jefferson Library on the North campus is moving at a fast pace due to the communication level between the library and the contractors, according to Joan Rapp, Director of University Libraries.

"H.B.D. contractors has done a remarkable job. Anything that is done is communicated to us," Rapp said.

According to Manager of General Services Mushira Haddad, a growing number of volumes over the past years was a key element behind the expansion.

"One of the big reasons is insufficient shelving," Haddad said. Originally, we could hold 250,000 volumes. Now it is 550,000 volumes."

Deadlines For Current Copy, Announced For Upcoming Year

New deadlines have been established for The Current for the 1989-90 school year, in an effort to ease some of the inevitable frustration of the staff and to prevent errors from creeping onto the pages.

Deadlines for submission of copy and advertising are as follows:

Letters to the editor, which are welcomed by the editorial staff, should be in no later than Monday at noon prior to the publication date. The newspaper is printed each Thursday while classes are in session.

Writers submitting letters to the editor should address them to Kevin Kleine, 1 Blue Metal Office Building, 8001 Natural Bridge Road. The writer's name and phone number must be included. Students should include their student identification numbers for verification.

No unsigned letters will be published; however, names can be withheld upon request. Responsibility for the content of letters belongs to the individual writer. Letters may be rejected by the editor for any reason. All letters are subject to editing for style and space considerations. No letters can be returned.

News copy and press releases must be submitted by 5 p.m. Fridays prior to publication. All are subject to editing for style and space considerations. The Current does not guarantee publication of news items.

Stop! Read This Column Or Else oblivion

by Shawn M. Foppe
managing editor

Oblivion—official overlooking of offenses; pardon.

Why, you may ask is this column entitled "Oblivion?" For one thing, it just sounded like a good name for a column. I freely admit that I was more interested in what the title for my column sounded like than why I chose the name.

Then I looked up the meaning of the word oblivion and came up with the afore mentioned definition. I liked it. For a long time I had griped about some of the more inane happenings both at UM—St. Louis and the world (no the two do not reside in the same dimension). This would give me the opportunity to vent my indignity and serve to purge the universe of wrongs and promote truth, justice and the American way.

I welcome comments, good or bad, about my column as well as examples of neuroditities in our lives.

Have you heard? Gallery 210 has moved to room 218 in Lucas Hall. But wait, just as soon as we began to get used to the confusion over the location of Gallery 210, the university made matters worse — they renumbered the rooms on the second floor in Lucas Hall.

On the surface, the renumeration of the second floor of Lucas may seem to have some merit. Gallery 210 has gained some matter of name recognition and saying "Gallery 210, located in 218 Lucas Hall," sounds ridiculous. The chancellor even agreed, suggesting the gallery be renamed "The Pierre Laclede Art Gallery."

But that sounds too snobbish and evidently Tom Kochheiser, Director of Gallery 210, didn't receive that message. Instead, university officials have, in their vast intelligence, decided to completely renumber the second floor of Lucas Hall to accommodate the move.

The gallery moved because it outgrew its original space and may again. But what would have happened if they had moved the gallery to the fourth floor? Would the fourth floor rooms in Lucas become 200 rooms? Would the third floor (the main entrance for most students anyway) be renumbered in the 100's, thus confusing new students beyond the assistance of therapy? And what of the first floor? Would those rooms have become negatively numbered?

Stay tuned. Same bat time, same bat channel.

And finally, I would like to not welcome the new students to the university.

You are overwhelmed by now with greetings from everyone who is no one and no one who is someone. New students have too many things to worry about, such as parking, without stopping to take the time to greet everyone who wants to say hello.

Just try to keep a sane attitude and watch out for those philosophy majors.

rooms, all service areas will be completed by October 10. According to Haddad, the entire library will be finished by October 27.

Freshman and returning students will see quite a few changes when school starts on August 28. When a student walks into the library, there will be two information desks to help them find out the different locations of such items as books, government documents and microforms, Haddad and Rapp said.

When expansion is completed on October 27, the five floors of the library will look like this, according to Haddad and Rapp.

●Level 1— study space, bound journals and 100,000 volumes.

●Level 2— current journals, microforms, staff areas, and reading and lounge space, some of which will be under the new pyramid glass.

●Level 3— two information desks, government documents, interlibrary loan area, the Director's office, an instruction room, facilities for the handicapped and the circulation and reference desks.

●Level 4 and 5— stacks and study space.

As with any expansion of a building, new sprinkler systems will be installed on the fourth and fifth floor, Haddad said. Certain sections of these levels will be covered and students who ask for books on the fourth and the fifth floor will have to ask a librarian to get those books.

But Haddad assured that there will be "few disruptions in September and October."

In order for the library to expand, three major corporations in the St. Louis area— the Anheuser-Busch Foundation, Emerson Electric Company and McDonnell Douglas— donated $1.2 million in March of 1987. UM-St. Louis then met that amount as required by Governor John Ashcroft.

Approval of the 55,000 square foot expanding library was made possible by the Missouri State Legislatures during their 1986 session. When the three companies and the university donated their money, Ashcroft then approved the remaining $2.64 million.

Expansion of the library then began in July of 1988.

LETTERS POLICY

The Current welcomes all letters to the editor. The writer's student number and phone number must be included. Non-students must also add their phone number. Letters should not be more than two typed pages in length.

No unsigned letters will be published. The author's name will be withheld upon request. Letters permitting use of the author's name will receive first preference.

Responsibility for letters to the editor belongs to the individual writer. The Current maintains the right to refuse publication of letters judged to be in poor taste. Letters may be edited to fit space consideration.

CURRENT

The Current is published weekly on Thursdays. Advertising rates are available upon request by contacting the Current Business Office at (314) 553-5175. Space reservations for advertisements must be received by noon Monday prior to the date of publication.

The Current, financed in part by student activities fees, is not an official publication of the University of Missouri. The university is not responsible for the Current's contents and policies.

Editorials expressed in the paper reflect the opinion of the editorial staff. Articles labeled "commentary" or "column" are the opinion of the individual writer.

Men's Basketball Treks To Alaska For Two

by David Workman sports editor

Among the many advantages of college basketball, one of them is the frequency of traveling away from the home campus to play opposing teams. This year will be especially advantageous for the UM-St. Louis Rivermen when they trek to Alaska this season.

The Rivermen will get a chance to put their ability to the test against two NCAA Division II national powers, Alaska-Fairbanks and Alaska-Anchorage. The Rivermen will play two games against each team.

Fairbanks finished 17-13 last season. Anchorage finished with an impressive record of 21-9, including a regular season win over the 1989 NCAA Division I champions, the University of Michigan.

Michigan was upset by Anchorage again in the Seiko Classic at the University of Utah.

"The trip will be a great experience for our players and coaches, but we're playing four very tough teams," UM-St. Louis head coach Rich Meckfessel said. "Anchorage and Fairbanks do not lose very often on their home floor."

The 28-game schedule features 16 games against teams that won at least 17 games last year.

Of the 12 non-conference games, nine are against schools that won at least 20 games or reached the NCAA tournament last season.

Two teams—Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville and Washington University—did both. SIU-E finished with a 23-7 record, while Washington U. finished 20-8 overall.

This season's schedule also includes a trip to Texas to pit UM-St.

Louis against the Red Raiders of Texas Tech, who finished 13-15 in Division I play last year. The game is scheduled for November 25.

The Rivermen will play 16 conference games in the recently-expanded Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association [MIAA].

UM-St. Louis is placed in the South Division, where they face Southeast Missouri State, Southwest Baptist, Missouri-Rolla, Missouri Southern, and Pittsburg State.

UM-St. Louis will play nine of their first 11 games on the road. The Rivermen start out November 18 at Quincy (20-8). The home opener is November 21 against Culver-Stockton (17-13).

Meckfessel said, "This could be the best team we've had since I've been here, but we will be challenged."

Morse New Women's Coach

by David Workman sports editor

Assistant Athletic Director Denise Silvester recently announced that Bobbi Morse will be the new women's basketball coach for UM-St. Louis.

Morse, a coach from Kaskaskia Community College in Centralia, Illinois, will head a team that compiled a winning record of 16-11 last season. Former Head Coach Mike Larson left the post as coach late March.

Morse, 26, has coached the past three seasons at Kaskaskia and she has compiled a total record of 71-25.

Last season, Morse's team finished 30-4 and captured a sectional championship for the second consecutive season.

"We're pleased to have somebody with that much experience who has shown that she can build a winning program," Silvester said.

Anative of Farmersburg, Indiana, Morse graduated from Eastern Michigan University in 1986 with a bachelor's degree in Business Education. She also attended Wabash Valley Community College in Mount Carmel, Illinois for two years.

In her two years at Wabash Valley, Morse became the school's all-time leader in scoring and rebounding. At Eastern Michigan, she was a two-year starter and served as the team captain in her senior year.

After her college eligibility expired, Morse remained at Eastern Michigan as a student assistant coach for the 1985-86 season. She became a graduate assistant at Eastern Michigan before accepting the position at Kaskaskia.

In three years, Morse molded Kaskaskia into one of the finest programs in the Midwest. She inherited a struggling program and posted a 17-15 record in 1986-87.

One year later, her team improved to 24-6 and received a sectional title.

Despite their loss in the championship game, Kaskaskia posted a 30-4 record in the 1988-89 season, the best record in the school's history.

With a reputation for being an excellent recruiter, Morse developed several outstanding players at Kaskaskia, three of whom earned scholarships to Division I school, and one of whom was a National Junior College Athletic Association All-American.

This year's UM-St. Louis women's basketball team will have three starters returning from last year's team.

Fall Practices Begin

by David Workman sports editor

Practice sessions for the 1989 fall sports season are now underway at the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

The UM-St. Louis men's soccer, women's soccer, and volleyball squads began their pre-season workouts last week.

The men's soccer squad, 18-3-1 a year ago, will practice weeknights from 6 to 8 p.m. The Rivermen will also play two exhibition games in the Our Lady of Loretto Tournament. They face Florissant Valley Community College on Wednesday, August 23, at 6:30 p.m. and Illinois State on Sunday, August 27, at 8 p.m.

The Rivermen open their regular season at home against Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville on Sunday, September 3, at 7:30 p.m.

The women's soccer, 8-12 last season, will practice weeknights from 3:15 to 5:30 p.m. Like the men, they will play two exhibition games at the Loretto Tournament. The Riverwomen will face Meramec Community College on Tuesday, August 22, at 8 p.m. and Florissant Valley on Sunday, August 27, at 6:30 p.m.

The Riverwomen open their regular season against Lewis University in the Lewis Invitational on Saturday, September 10, against Barry University. The game starts at noon.

The UM-St. Louis volleyball squad returns five starters from last year's team. The Riverwomen will open the season at St. Louis University on Saturday, September 2.

Men's Soccer Signs Nine New Recruits

by David Workman sports editor

Nine St. Louis area athletes have signed letters of intent to attend UM-St. Louis this fall and play soccer for the Rivermen, UM-St. Louis men's soccer coach Don Dallas announced.

The 1989 recruiting class includes seven high school seniors and two junior college players. Four of the incoming freshmen earned all-state honors last season and both of the JUCO newcomers attained All-America status a year ago.

Headlining the list are JUCO All-Americans Bob Trigg of Florissant Valley Community College and Todd Barry of Lewis and Clark Community College.

The freshmen feature cousins Brian and Kevin Hennessy of CBC, goalkeeper Matt Wohlstader of St. Louis U. High, Greg Tieber and Steve Litschgi of Kennedy High, and Doug Wiese and Craig Frederking of Hazelwood Central High.

"It's probably the most talented group we've recruited, number wise," Dallas said.

Since six senior starters are gone from last season's 18-3-1 squad, Dallas expects to fill those vacancies with new faces.

Trigg and Barry, figure to have excellent shots at winning berths in the backfield.

Trigg started several games as a freshman at Division I power Indiana University two years ago, before transferring to Florissant Valley last summer, where he made the National Junior College Athletic Association All-American squad.

Barry was a two-time NJCAA All-American at Lewis and Clark College.

"These are two very skilled and experienced players," Dallas said. "They should blend in well with our returning seniors."

The freshman class offers a little bit of everything. Wohlstader will compete for the starting job in the net; Frederking gives the Rivermen a dangerous threat at forward; Brian Hennessy and Doug Wiese bring excellent defensive skills to the program; and Kevin Hennessy, Litschgi, and Tieber can play just about anywhere on the field.

"The versatility of this group is great," Dallas said. "All the holes have been filled. It'll be up to us to fit the right players in the right spots."

Dallas added, "It's the first time we've ever had as many as seven freshmen sign with us. Plus all of them are quality players from excellent high schools and amateur teams."

Women's Soccer Adds 3

by David Workman sports editor

UM-St. Louis women's soccer coach Ken Hudson solved a need in his recruiting office when he recently announced the signing of three high-scoring prep seniors from the St. Louis area.

Monietta Slay, the leading goal scorer at Bishop DuBourg High School this past spring, and sisters Kim and Becky O'Hare of Aquinas-Mercy signed letters of intent to attend UM-St. Louis and play soccer for the Riverwomen this fall.

Offense was the primary recruiting need for Hudson this spring. He feels he has made excellent additions to a program that returns little offense from last year's 8-12 squad.

"We could possibly start three freshmen up front next year," Hudson said. "All three of these players will have a chance to come in and contribute immediately."

Slay was a four-year starter on the varsity team at DuBourg, leading the team in scoring all four years. She scored 15 goals this season to lead DuBourg to the final of the district tournament.

"Monietta has good ball skills," Hudson said. "She is very capable of setting up goals, very good at ball distribution, and she can score. She is a very dedicated player."

Slay, a two-time All-Archdiocesan Athletic Association performer, has been a member of the Busch Soccer Club for the past six years. Her team won the Under-16 state title in 1986 and the Under-19 crown this past season.

Slay was also a member of the Junior Olympic champions in 1987.

The O'Hare sisters were a big part of the high-powered offense at Aquinas-Mercy the past four years. Both started all four years and registered impressive scoring totals.

Kim had scored 21 goals this past season, and Becky shot in 18.

"Kim could start at striker and be a definite finisher for us," Hudson predicted. "She has a knack for scoring goals. She's strong enough that she can't be pushed off the ball, and she goes to the goal very well."

"Becky is very capable of starting and making an immediate impact at wing. She is very strong and has a good sense of the field," Hudson adds.

As a junior, Becky O'Hare was a first team All-Archdiocesan Athletic Association and All-North County Journal selection. Kim O'Hare was a second team all conference a year ago.

will), this is something you should heed. Get involved. Join a club. Do something. Just don't be one of those buttheads that don't do anything but sit around and complain about how boring this campus is. There are 40 recognized groups on this campus and many more informal groups. If you can't find one that interests you, either you are waiting for someone to start an embalming club, or else you are the most boring person on the face of the earth. Joining a club or getting involved in some activity will make your stay at the University of Missouri-St. Louis more enjoyable. Since this is a commuter college, clubs are the best way to meet new people. And as an added bonus, extracurricular activities always look good on a resume.

I hope the wisdom I have passed on to you can make college life a little easier and a little more fun for you. One last thing to remember as you embark on your pursuit of academic excellence is that no matter how tough your classes are, no matter how far behind you are, jumping from the SSB Tower is strictly prohibited.

else ask, "Why do you want to receive a scholarship?" Isn't it obvious? For MONEY!

To answer a burning question, NO, I did not win the scholarship. Perhaps if I had made my brief letter more meek and a little kissy you know what, I may have been the recipient of a wad of tuition money.

But I'm not a total derelict. I did conclude my letter like so

In conclusion, I'd like to express my thanks to the sponsors of this award for giving college students the opportunity for an extra boost towards completing an education that provides such an important service to the community.

I didn't think it was too hammy. After all, nobody has to give money away. Scholarships give a lot of people opportunities to achieve their dreams.

If you can afford the time, and loss of privacy, then they are worth going after. Your chances of winning a scholarship are probably much better than winning the lottery.

If you can find a Macintosh in this room, we might put one in yours. Free.

In what will surely be the easiest test of your intellect this term, Apple invites you to try winning a free Apple® Macintosh® Plus personal computer merely by finding it in this drawing.

We'll even give you a hint: It's not the table, the lamp, or the chair.

Now you're on your own.

To register, look for contest details where Macintosh computers are sold on your campus. Oh, all right, we'll give you a hint for that, too: Look at the bottom of this ad.

But do it really, really fast. Because only one Macintosh is being given away on this campus, and it's going to happen soon.

Soon, as in right away. Pronto. Quick-like.

But hey, you can take a hint.
