

F.A. Hayek Masters in Economics Student Assistantship Award

Max Gillman, Friedrich A. Hayek Professor in Economic History, announced the creation of a new Graduate Award starting in the Fall of 2019. The Award was temporarily put on hiatus during the COVID-19 lockdown. The F.A. Hayek Masters in Economics Student Assistantship Award is being granted on a continuing basis starting with the Fall of 2021.

The Award consists of a graduate student stipend of up to $6,000.

In some cases, the Award may optionally include:

- An appointment to be a Research Assistant to the Hayek Chair (Professor Gillman)
- An appointment to be a Teaching Assistant and/or Assistant in the Economics Resource Center (as assigned by the Hayek Professor Gillman in conjunction with the Economics Department Chair)
- Some tuition support

The Award will be renewed for a second year if the student performs satisfactorily (GPA above 3.0 and any other assigned duties are successfully completed) in year one.

Interested prospective students should write directly to both the Economics Graduate Program Director Don Kridel and the Hayek Professor Gillman, at the following email addresses: krideld@umsl.edu and gillmanm@umsl.edu.

Upon correspondence with Professors Kridel and Gillman as described above, the interested students would also need to also be admitted to the Economics MA program (as described on the UMSL Economics website).
